Palace Guard Kills President Of Guatemala

Assassin Reported To Have Taken Own Life after Shooting

GUATEMALA (AP)—President Carlos Castillo Armas was assassinated Friday night by a member of his palace guard.

The anti-Communist leader, who three years ago drove out the nearest thing to a Communist government the American continent has yet seen, was mowed down by four rifle bullets. His attractive wife was a witness.

The assassin, Romero Vasquez Sanchez, then turned the rifle on himself, according to witnesses and took his own life.

The assassination took place after a reception which Castillo Armas gave for businessmen at the climax to a weeklong study of Guatemala's economic problems. The president and his pretty school teacher wife were on their way to the palace dining room. As they approached, the assassin presented arms, lowered his rifle and fired four times. The president toppled, dead.

LUIS ARTURO Gonzalez, president of Congress, appeared to be the immediate successor to 43-year-old Castillo Armas, the army colonel who had ousted the Red-supported regime of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman in 1954.

Gonzalez is "first designate," a post equivalent to vice president. But there also was talk that a junta might take over.

Reports received in New York said a state of siege—a modified form of martial law—had been imposed.

Most Guatemalans went to bed Friday night without knowing their president had been killed. Calm prevailed through the night.

There have been several plots reported against his regime allegedly masterminded by Guatemalans living abroad. Arbenz himself is in exile in Europe.

Castillo Armas led a ragtag army of irregulars against the Arbenz forces to bring his country back from the road to communism. He quickly purged the country of Communists, sending them into exile or putting them in jail.

He also moved against right-wing elements who he said "might try to hold back the hands of the clock of history."

'Experimental' Insanity Now Being Studied

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Scientists investigating "experimental insanity" are on the verge of finding the basic reason for mental disorder, an expert in narcotics and addiction asserts.

Dr. Harris Isbell, director of the Addiction Research Center at the U.S. Public Health Service hospital here, said research with new and old drugs has led to the rebirth of the "toxic" theory of psychiatry.

The research suggests there is a material in the blood of schizophrenics that will induce a psychotic state in normal persons, Dr. Isbell told a civic club Friday.

If this is true, he added, scientists are near discovery of the basic reason for mental disorder.

Girl, 10, Wins Horse - Stays Silent Month

CONCORD, N. C. (AP)—Ten-year-old Kitty Butler's month of silence ended today. She sealed her lips June 27 in order to get a horse.

For six years Kitty has begged for a horse but her father, John Butler, said no.

A month ago, Kitty told her father, "Daddy, I will do anything if you will buy me a horse."

He figured this was safe—he ruled that she must stop talking for a month.

Kitty gets straight "A's" in school except in citizenship, because, her teacher says, "Kitty talks too much."

After a few days the silence got on Butler's nerves. "Go ahead and talk," he told Kitty, "and I will buy you the horse."

But Kitty took no chances. She continued to communicate by note until the month ended.

Kitty has her horse picked out and named, "Prince," a cinnamon and white pinto, will be delivered next week.

Passenger's Body Found

Blast Still Unknown

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (AP)—The badly mangled body of a passenger hurtled through the side of an airliner in a mysterious explosion has been found on a jagged, lava-strewn hill in the Mojave desert. And officials say they still don't know what caused the blast.

Ground searches Friday came upon Saul F. Binstock, 62, a retired jeweler from North Hollywood, Calif., as they followed a trail of airplane fragments in the Ord mountains about 50 miles northeast of here.

"There was nothing on the body or in his clothes to indicate what caused the explosion," one official said. An autopsy has been ordered.

The blast ripped open the side of a Western Airlines twin-engine Convair Thursday morning as it winged between Las Vegas and Los Angeles at 10,000 feet.

Binstock, who was in the plane washroom, disappeared.

The convair made an emergency landing at an Air Force base. The plane's other 12 passengers and crew of three were uninjured.

BEFORE LEAVING Los Angeles for Las Vegas Wednesday night Binstock purchased $125,000 worth of round-trip flight insurance.

Some experts believe the blast was touched off by some explosive device, but they admit they have no proof as yet.

Meanwhile, investigators from the Federal Aeronautics Board and the Federal Bureau of Investigation examined the pieces of plane fuselage in hopes of finding the cause of the blast.

Guilty Plea Filed In Amish Slaying

MILLERSBURG (AP)—Cleo E. Peters, 19, of Muscatine, Iowa, pleaded guilty to charges of first-degree murder Friday in the slaying of an Amish farmer.

Michael G. Dumoulin, 20, of Wooster, pleaded innocent to the same charge at a preliminary hearing. "They are accused of fatally shooting Paul M. Coblenz, 25, in his home at nearby Mount Hope last July 18.

Holmes County Sheriff Harry Weiss called them "thrill killers" and said "they were out to make headlines."

Hoffa Appears as Successor To Beck as Teamster Boss

CHICAGO (AP)—Jimmy Hoffa has emerged as the apparent strong man in the race to succeed Dave Beck as president of the powerful Teamsters Union.

Hoffa's growing strength in the 1½ million member union was sharply focused Friday when some 800 cheering Teamster leaders voted unanimously to endorse the Detroit's candidacy for the $50,000 a year post.

The caucus was called by Hoffa's supporters especially to boom the 44-year-old Hoffa for Beck's job. Beck is stepping down amidst charges by a Senate Rackets Committee that misappropriated large sums of money from the union.

Hoffa himself was acquitted by a jury July 19 of bribery and conspiracy charges brought by the same committee which said he tried to plant a spy on the committee staff.

Harold J. Gibbons, St. Louis Teamster chief, offered the resolution backing Hoffa.

"There's nothing I can do but carry on your wishes," Hoffa said.

ENTHUSIASM for Hoffa led another announced candidate for the five-year post to virtually withdraw from the contest, John T. (Sandy) O'Brien, who was running hard for the nomination, emerged from a conference with Hoffa and asserted:

"Jim has 75 per cent of the vote. I will go back and tell my friends the situation."

O'Brien said that if Hoffa had as much strength as the meeting demonstrated "I have nothing else to do" but withdraw. O'Brien, of Chicago, is a fourth vice president.

Hoffa read a 2,500 word campaign policy statement to the meeting. It was adopted without dissent. The nine-point platform endorsed the AFL-CIO ethical practice code with the exception of the Fifth Amendment provision, which Hoffa opposes.

Japan Floods Fatal to 422

TOKYO (AP)—Flood waters began receding slowly today on "ravaged" Kyushu Island where 422 persons were listed as dead in the wake of a 24-hour storm that brought 32 inches of rain.

Authorities listed 3,626 injured and 294 missing as rescue teams scanned the flood-washed triangle between Ishahaya, Omura and Nagasaki where 100,000 persons have been left homeless.

No American civilians or military personnel were known to be among the victims.

Argentina Cools Off on Eve Of Tell-Tale National Election

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's liveliest political campaign in more than a decade ended today with a final flurry of denunciations and victory predictions.

Sunday the nation's voters will elect a constituent assembly to take up the job of rewriting the constitution of 1853. The provisional government of President Pedro Aramburu, which threw out the Peron-written constitution of 1949, says the assembly's main task will be to limit the executive's powers and specifically to prevent the president from running for reelection. That would do away with a provision that ousted President Juan Peron put in so he could succeed himself.

Aramburu has called for the constituent assembly to meet Sept. 1 and for general elections next February to choose a constitutional government.

Peron, now living in exile in Venezuela, has called for his followers to "vote in blank" to demonstrate the power he claims he still wields in Argentina.

Campaigning closed at midnight and a 24-hour ban on electioneering was in effect today to give a cooling off period before the voters begin trooping to the polls.

More than nine million men and women are eligible to cast ballots.

Aside from the diehard supporters of Peron, the pro-Aramburu forces are opposed chiefly by backers of radical party leader Arturo Frondizi.

Frondizi wound up his fiery campaign with an attack on the provisional government and the Peronists. He charged that Peronist orders to cast blank ballots were falsified and urged supporters of the deposed dictator to vote for his party.

The streets of Buenos Aires were strewn with thousands of political leaflets and posters of a score of parties—a far cry from the virtual monopoly of the "Vive Peron" slogans posted during the fallen president's time.

Nasser Reviews New Egyptian Navy in Secret

Sea Display Is Climax To Week-Long Affair
Honoring New Regime

ALEXANDRIA (AP)—Behind a tight curtain of secrecy, President Nasser today reviewed units of his navy off Alexandria.

Local press reports said Nasser would raise the Egyptian flag on three submarines recently purchased from Russia. Foreign reporters and photographers were barred from the naval review. So were most diplomats.

Six carefully chosen Egyptian newsmen and photographers accompanied the official party but they were warned against passing on unauthorized information or pictures to the foreign press.

Today's naval display wound up a week of festivities celebrating the fifth anniversary of the Egyptian revolution and the first anniversary of the nationalization of the Suez Canal Co.

In a speech last night in Alexandria, Nasser praised the United States' stand during last fall's Suez Canal invasion but said he rejected the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine because it "had strings" attached.

"WE CANNOT forget the United States stand against aggression," Nasser told a mass rally celebrating the fifth anniversary of the ouster of King Farouk.

Speaking just a year after his dramatic announcement that Egypt was nationalizing the Suez Canal Co., Nasser charged the British-French invasion of the canal was not designed to protect the disputed waterway as claimed but was aimed at bringing Egypt to its knees.

He accused France of seizing a chance to strike at Egypt and Britain of maneuvering to reoccupy the canal.

Of the Israeli attack, he said, "we hoped to give Israel a lesson and avenge the battle of 1948 (the Arab-Israeli war) but it was not to be."

In a two-hour speech Nasser declared that if Egypt had accepted the offer of aid under the Eisenhower doctrine — aimed at stopping communism in the Middle East—it would have meant Egypt following in the U. S. path.

"We do not believe in alliances and the Eisenhower doctrine had certain conditions," Nasser said. "It had strings... for this reason we rejected it."

In another facet of the Egyptian celebration, a submarine recently purchased by Egypt from the Soviet Union made its debut in Alexandria Harbor. Thousands of persons were on hand to cheer as the sub was shown off between two heavy destroyers. Two other submarines taken over from the Soviets at the same time were not displayed.

Senate Probers Ask Agencies To Check Unionists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rack-ets probers today asked the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Service to look into the activities of the top two officials of the United Textile Workers Union (UTW).

The special Senate Committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) wound up its investigation Friday with demands that UTW President Anthony Valente and Secretary Lloyd Klenert resign.

The committee had heard testimony that Valente and Klenert diverted $128,405 in union funds to their own personal uses since 1952, and that Klenert had even charged the UTW $5.50 for a milk stool, $25 for a corkscrew, $2,564.65 for tickets to a Broadway play.

Beck Pleads Innocent To Grand Larceny Rap

SEATTLE (AP)—A plea of innocent to a charge of grand larceny in the use of funds derived from the sale of a union-owned automobile, was entered in court Friday by Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union.

Beck's brief appearance was restricted to a formal entry of the plea. He had been scheduled for arraignment next Tuesday but the date was moved up because he leaves for Florida today or union business. Dave Beck Jr., indicted on two similar charges, will enter his plea Tuesday.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's liveliest political campaign in more than a decade ended today with a final flurry of denunciations and victory predictions.

Sunday the nation's voters will elect a constituent assembly to take up the job of rewriting the constitution of 1853. The provisional government of President Pedro Aramburu, which threw out the Peron-written constitution of 1949, says the assembly's main task will be to limit the executive's powers and specifically to prevent the president from running for reelection.

That would do away with a provision that ousted President Juan Peron put in so he could succeed himself.

Aramburu has called for the constituent assembly to meet Sept. 1 and for general elections next February to choose a constitutional government.

Peron, now living in exile in Venezuela, has called for his followers to "vote in blank" to demonstrate the power he claims he still wields in Argentina.

Campaigning closed at midnight and a 24-hour ban on electioneering was in effect today to give a cooling off period before the voters begin trooping to the polls.

More than nine million men and women are eligible to cast ballots. Aside from the diehard supporters of Peron, the pro-Aramburu forces are opposed chiefly by backers of radical party leader Arturo Frondizi.

Frondizi wound up his fiery campaign with an attack on the provisional government and the Peronists. He charged that Peronist orders to cast blank ballots were falsified and urged supporters of the deposed dictator to vote for his party.

The streets of Buenos Aires were strewn with thousands of political leaflets and posters of a score of parties—a far cry from the virtual monopoly of the "Vive Peron" slogans posted during the fallen president's time.

Nasser Reviews New Egyptian Navy in Secret

Sea Display Is Climax To Week-Long Affair Honoring New Regime

ALEXANDRIA (AP) — Behind a tight curtain of secrecy, President Nasser today reviewed units of his navy off Alexandria.

Local press reports said Nasser would raise the Egyptian flag on three submarines recently purchased from Russia. Foreign reporters and photographers were barred from the naval review. So were most diplomats.

Six carefully chosen Egyptian newsmen and photographers accompanied the official party but they were warned against passing on unauthorized information or pictures to the foreign press.

Today's naval display wound up a week of festivities celebrating the fifth anniversary of the Egyptian revolution and the first anniversary of the nationalization of the Suez Canal Co.

In a speech last night in Alexandria, Nasser praised the United States' stand during last fall's Suez Canal invasion but said he rejected the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine because it "had strings" attached.

"WE CANNOT forget the United States stand against aggression," Nasser told a mass rally celebrating the fifth anniversary of the ouster of King Farouk.

Speaking just a year after his dramatic announcement that Egypt was nationalizing the Suez Canal Co., Nasser charged the British-French invasion of the canal was not designed to protect the disputed waterway as claimed but was aimed at bringing Egypt to its knees.

He accused France of seizing a chance to strike at Egypt and Britain of maneuvering to recoup the canal.

Of the Israeli attack, he said, "we hoped to give Israel a lesson and avenge the battle of 1948 (the Arab-Israeli war) but it was not to be."

In a two-hour speech Nasser declared that if Egypt had accepted the offer of aid under the Eisenhower doctrine — aimed at stopping communism in the Middle East — it would have meant Egypt following in the U. S. path.

"We do not believe in alliances and the Eisenhower doctrine had certain conditions," Nasser said. "It had strings . . . for this reason we rejected it."

In another facet of the Egyptian celebration, a submarine recently purchased by Egypt from the Soviet Union made its debut in Alexandria Harbor. Thousands of persons were on hand to cheer as the sub was shown off between two heavy destroyers. Two other submarines taken over from the Soviets at the same time were not displayed.

Senate Probers Ask Agencies To Check Unionists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers today asked the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Service to look into the activities of the top two officials of the United Textile Workers Union (UTW).

The special Senate Committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) wound up its investigation Friday with demands that UTW President Anthony Valente and Secretary Lloyd Klenert resign.

The committee had heard testimony that Valente and Klenert diverted $128,405 in union funds to their own personal uses since 1952, and that Klenert had even charged the UTW $5.50 for a milk stool, $25 for a corkscrew, $2,564.65 for tickets to a Broadway play.

Beck Pleads Innocent To Grand Larceny Rap

SEATTLE (AP) — A plea of innocent to a charge of grand larceny in the use of funds derived from the sale of a union-owned automobile, was entered in court Friday by Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union.

Beck's brief appearance was restricted to a formal entry of the plea. He had been scheduled for arraignment next Tuesday but the date was moved up because he leaves for Florida today or union business. Dave Beck Jr., indicted on two similar charges, will enter his plea Tuesday.

British Calling Off Attack Against Rebels

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Informal sources said today the RAF has called off its air attacks on rebels who have been in revolt against the pro-British sultan of Oman and Muscat.

Reports here said the assaults would be suspended while the RAF studies damage caused by rocket-firing jets which have been peppering rebel strongholds.

Reports from London earlier said the attacks would be held up for a couple of days while an attempt is made at negotiating with the insurgents led by Oman's religious leader, the Imam Ghalib Ben Ali.

Acreage Reserve Payments Total $83,082 July 24

Payments to Fayette County farmers under the Soil Bank's 1957 Acreage Reserve program amounted to $83,082.03 as of July 24, 1957, Mrs. Fred Shoop, office manager of the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

The payments were made for reductions in acreage below the far allotment for wheat. Altogether 5,310.7 acres of the crops in the county have been put in this year's Acreage Reserve program.

FARMERS who take part in the program earn certificates which may be redeemed for cash, or the certificates may be redeemed for CCC-owned grain if they have been earned for reducing grain acreage.

When the certificates are used in exchange for grain, the value of the CCC-owned corn, barley, rye, and oats stored in the area of production is set at the current support price for the grade, class, and location of the grain less 5 per cent. The value of CCC-owned wheat is set at the current support rate.

Farm Market Parley Slated In Capital

WASHINGTON — A broad "checkoff" system on farm marketings to raise funds for self-help farm programs may be proposed at an agricultural conference to be held here Aug. 6 and 7.

The conference is being sponsored by the National Milk Producers Federation and is expected to be attended by representatives of about 70 farm commodity groups.

One general farm organization, the National Grange, has agreed to participate, but two others, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Farmers Union, have stated that they will take no part.

Sponsors say the meeting is an outgrowth of armer dissatisfaction with present farm programs and also lack of confidence in the general farm organizations in gaining agreement on improvements.

It is the expressed hope of the conference leaders that each commodity group will be able to develop a program of its own and that all would join hands to help get the various programs adopted by Congress.

The milk producers will emphasize a program under which assessments would be collected on milk marketings to finance an industry-operated program for purchase and disposal of dairy surplus. At present, the government is carrying on these functions but at costs that have drawn criticism in some taxpayer groups.

U. S. Chief Justice Ignores Protocol

LONDON — Chief Justice Earl Warren wore a bright chocolate-colored suit on the distinguished guests platform today to hear Prime Minister Harold Macmillan address the American Bar Assn.

The appearance of the chief justice in a double-breasted brown suit with a light gray tie caused mumbled comment among some of the 300 Americans who thronged Royal Festival Hall.

Premier Macmillan wore formal dress — striped trousers, a black tail coat and a starched white collar. U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney wore formal clothes.

Seed prices 6 per cent higher in 1957 spring season than year ago. Smooth brome grass and timothy seed advanced the most—over 60 per cent. Common alfalfa, alsike clover and Korean lespedza were about a third higher.

Econogram for Farmers

EDITOR'S NOTE: These news highlights in economics and public affairs relating to agriculture are summarized by agricultural extension economists at Ohio State University.

Cattle and hog price prospects seem fairly certain to remain near this year's improved price levels for another year or more. Spring pig crop was 8 per cent below 1955; fall pig crop on 2 per cent above reduce crop of 1956. Steadiness indicates attempts to avoid over expansion. Prices may be as high or higher than year ago until late 1957.

Cattle slaughter points to slightly reduced inventories for second consecutive year. Fed cattle prices may trend seasonally higher this fall. Grass cattle prices expected to trend seasonally lower. Fat cattle prices lend support to feeder prices but crop prospects still too uncertain to indicate effects on feeders.

Cattle and calves on feed for market in 13 major feeding states on July 1 were up 8 per cent over that time last year, but 16 per cent below April 1957. The corn belt states are feeding 7 per cent more than July a year ago. Ohio reported 103,000 head, up 16 per cent over a year ago. Steers represented 67 per cent of the total heifers, 29 per cent; calves, 3 per cent; cows and others, 1 per cent. Feeders reported intentions to market 21 per cent during July; 25 per cent in August; 26 per cent in September and 28 per cent after October 1.

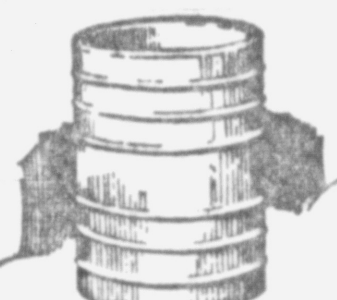

Net farm income in first half of 1957 reported slightly higher than last year due to higher average prices. Production expenses higher but not enough to offset increase in gross income. Interest charges, taxes, wage rates, feeder livestock and other items showed increases in costs.

FARM MORTGAGE debt in Ohio amounted to $334 million in 1956 which represented 8 per cent of the value of land and buildings. This compares with a mortgage debt in 1950 of $229 million. In 1945 it was $167 million and in 1940 amounted to $239 mil. representing 16.6 per cent of total value. Interest rates averaged 4.7 per cent in 1956. Nearly 3/4 of total value of loans was held by operating banks, individuals and miscellaneous lenders.

Food donations (by U.S.D.A.) set record high for year ended June 30, under active program to dispose of surpluses. A total of 2.8 billion lbs. of food (acquired in operation of price support and surplus removal programs) was donated at home and abroad, an increase of 40 per cent over the preceding year. About two-thirds were distributed in foreign countries; about one-third domestically with principal recipients being needy families and in school lunch program.

Recent survey of consumer finances made by Federal Reserve Board shows that consumers purchased about as many new and existing houses in 1956 as in 1955, but somewhat fewer major household goods. Purchases of new and used automobiles declined sharply from 1955 record level. Both home and automobile ownership continue to be more widespread. About 9 per cent of all spending units purchased new cars and 15 per cent purchased used cars in 1956. New car prices

Demonstrations, Discussions Planned for Annual Dairy Day

One of the world's leading authorities in dairy science will team up with an Ohio research leader at Ohio Dairy Day Aug 9 to present a picture of dairying over a 150-year period.

The program at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster will feature a summary of dairying progress over the past 75 years by W. E. Krauss, associate director of the station, followed by a projection into the next 75 years by W. E. Peterson of the University of Minnesota.

Peterson who has studied dairying in all 48 states and in several foreign countries, will tell visitors about changes to expect in dairy farming as a result of research. An expert in the physiology of milk production, he also will speak on "Protective Milk," a subject which opens new possibilities into the value of milk in keeping people free of disease.

This 30th annual event, largest of the field days, is being held in conjunction with the experiment station's 75th anniversary celebration. Registration will begin at 10 a. m. at the main dairy barn on Route 250.

Exhibits and demonstrations will play a more important part in the program than in former years, according to Fordyce Ely, program chairman. Visitors will see results of silage vs. soilage experiment and hear of ways to keep the herd healthy.

Advantages and disadvantages of raising calves on high roughage rations will be another demonstration.

There will be displays on economic problems arising in dairy practice and the nutritional requirements of the rumen, the cow's first stomach.

Canton Budget Hiked

CANTON — An $8,257,000 budget for 1958 was adopted by Stark County commissioners Friday. The budget was $1,294,000 over 1957. Higher costs of welfare and other services and supplies were cited by the commissioners. and the nutritional requirements of the rumen, the cow's first stomach.

An educational program has been arranged for women visitors. Budget-minded homemakers will be told how to get the most from food dollars and will learn ways to conserve energy in housework.

Cattle judging and fitting and showing demonstrations are events in which younger visitors can participate.

In 1945 it was $167 million and in 1940 amounted to $239 mil. representing 16.6 per cent of total value. Interest rates averaged 4.7 per cent in 1956. Nearly 4 of total value of loans was held by operating banks, individuals and miscellaneous lenders.

Food donations (by U.S.D.A.) set record high for year ended June 30, under active program to dispose of surpluses. A total of 2.5 billion lbs. of food (acquired in operation of price support and surplus removal programs) was donated at home and abroad, an increase of 40 per cent over the preceding year. About two-thirds were distributed in foreign countries; about one-third domestically with principal recipients being needy families and in school lunch program.

Recent survey of consumer finances made by Federal Reserve Board shows that consumers purchased about as many new and existing houses in 1956 as in 1955, but somewhat fewer major household goods. Purchases of new and used automobiles declined sharply from 1955 record level. Both home and automobile ownership continue to be more widespread. About 9 per cent of all spending units purchased new cars and 15 per cent purchased used cars in 1956. New car prices

LONDON — Chief Justice Earl Warren wore a bright chocolate-colored suit on the distinguished guests platform today to hear Prime Minister Harold Macmillan address the American Bar Assn.

The appearance of the chief justice in a double-breasted brown suit with a light gray tie caused mumbled comment among some of the 300 Americans who thronged Royal Festival Hall.

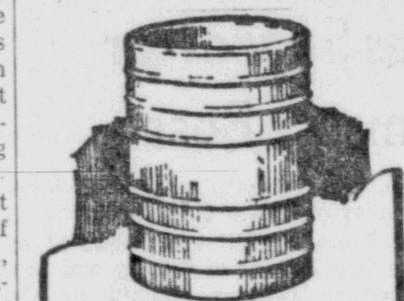

Premier Macmillan wore formal dress — striped trousers, a black tail coat and a starched white collar. U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney wore formal clothes.

If the chief justice realized he was dressed more informally than the 37 other men on the wide platform, he didn't show it.

Seed prices 6 per cent higher in 1957 spring season than year ago. Smooth brome grass and timothy seed advance the most—over 60 per cent. Common alfalfa, alsike clover and Korean lespedza were about a third higher.

More than one-half of the American women who work are married.

Demonstrations, Discussions Planned for Annual Dairy Day

One of the world's leading authorities in dairy science will team up with an Ohio research leader at Ohio Dairy Day Aug 9 to present a picture of dairying over a 150-year period.

The program at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster will feature a summary of dairying progress over the past 75 years by W. E. Krauss, associate director of the station, followed by a projection into the next 75 years by W. E. Peterson of the University of Minnesota.

Peterson who has studied dairying in all 48 states and in several foreign countries, will tell visitors about changes to expect in dairy farming as a result of research. An expert in the physiology of milk production, he also will speak on "Protective Milk," a subject which opens new possibilities into the value of milk in keeping people free of disease.

ue of milk in keeping people free of disease.

This 30th annual event, largest of the field days, is being held in conjunction with the experiment station's 75th anniversary celebration. Registration will begin at 10 a. m. at the main dairy barn on Route 250.

Exhibits and demonstrations will play a more important part in the program than in former years, according to Fordyce Ely, program chairman. Visitors will see results of silage vs. soilage experiment and hear of ways to keep the herd healthy.

Advantages and disadvantages of raising calves on high roughage rations will be another demonstration.

There will be displays on economic problems arising in dairy practice and the nutritional requirements of the rumen, the cow's first stomach.

Canton Budget Hiked

CANTON — An $8,257,000 budget for 1958 was adopted by Stark County commissioners Friday. The budget was $1,294,000 over 1957. Higher costs of welfare and other services and supplies were cited by the commissioners.

An educational program has been arranged for women visitors. Budget-minded homemakers will be told how to get the most from food dollars and will learn ways to conserve energy in housework.

Cattle judging and fitting and showing demonstrations are events in which younger visitors can participate.

Progress Is Rapid On 2nd Test Well

Making unprecedented headway, drillers of the Keweenaw Oil Co.'s second test hole were expecting to be below the 800-foot mark some time Saturday.

At 3:30 p. m. Friday the drill was at 682 feet. Apparently the rock is softer than that found in the first 800 feet of Well No. 1, abandoned two weeks ago.

It was not disclosed whether other formations than limestone had been encountered in the first 800 feet of the new well.

Vacation without Mosquitoes!

Don't let mosquitoes spoil your vacation fun this summer.

Tuck into your suitcase or glove compartment a repellent preparation that can be applied quickly to skin or clothes if mosquitoes appear at camping, or picnic places.

Repellents don't kill insects but do ward off such pests.

The newest repellent, on sale for the first time this year under various trade names, is diethyl toluamide, developed by U. S. Department of Agriculture research. It protects against mosquitoes, ticks, chiggers, fleas, flies, and other such insects, says Lyle Goleman, Ohio State University extension entomologist.

To actually kill mosquitoes, use an insecticide in the form of a spray. Goleman advises. A "space" spray will do the job if you plan to stay only a few hours. Use an aerosol "bug bomb" containing any of the following: lindane, pyrethrum, allethrin, or DDT. A household spray containing 5-percent of DDT may also be used. Aim the spray so that it will drift through the bushes, grass, and other vegetation.

To control mosquitoes for a few days, use a surface or residual spray, suggests the specialist. This leaves an invisible film of insecticide on the surfaces sprayed which kills mosquitoes lighting there.

The following insecticides are effective when applied to surfaces: 5-percent DDT, 2-percent chlordane, or 1-percent lindane. Spray the foundations and underparts of buildings, tree trunks and shrubbery to the point of runoff. It is not wise to spray an emulsion or oil solution on ornamental vegetation;

Recent 'Mock Alert' Should Awaken Us

The recent "mock alert" for an aerial attack in this nation received little attention from the general public here in Fayette County and the same is true of almost every other locality in the country, according to reports.

If the real thing had occurred, it is said, approximately one out of every three people in the nation theoretically today might be dead, injured or hiding away in basements or ruins of many municipalities.

Survivors in Fayette County supposedly are still worrying about radioactive "fall-out" and seeking to aid victims, if this had been the real thing. H-bombs theoretically were dropped on more than 150 prime targets of which Dayton was one and is close enough to have meant trouble here.

Perhaps the non-interest shown by most people in the country resulted from the advance warning that what was to happen need cause no alarm because it was only a "play" alert, but if it had been real and unexpected like Pearl Harbor, what would all of us be doing today?

Although the results of the recent mock alert were disappointing, Civil Defense officials say, because the country showed how unprepared we are for a real catastrophe of this nature, they may serve to put the nation on guard in a better way for the future.

Today civilian populace hasn't the foggiest notion what to do should the United States come under aerial attack. There is no concentrated effort to instruct people on survival techniques.

The civilian defense organizations, no matter how well drilled and schooled they may be, cannot hope to succeed as long as their efforts are greeted by public apathy and indifference. There are several factors which contribute to this indifference.

The attitude that "it can't happen here" prevails. This attitude is almost a part of the American character. As a paradox, there is the unfortunate feeling that if it did happen, if an atomic bomb should be dropped near us, there can be no hope of survival and preparation is futile.

A greater effort to educate and convince the public of the need for civilian defense seems to be in order. We must accept the fact that it can happen here—and that if it does, adequate preparation can save lives. It will not be easy to change the public attitude toward civilian defense, yet with all of the modern methods of communication at our disposal, with all of our knowledge of the techniques of education and persuasion, the task should not be impossible.

A Matter of Psychology

By George Sokolsky

I have often wondered who was responsible for the slogan "People's Capitalism," which numerous American agencies scattered about the world in competition with Soviet Russia's "People's Democracy."

Both terms are, of course, meaningless, capitalism being a system of the individual's authority over his own earnings, a system which today exists nowhere, whereas democracy is the antithesis in Soviet Russia, its allies or satellites.

Slogans are usually like that—just downright lies.

It would seem that the phrase "people's capitalism" was developed by the United States Information Agency but accepted by the advertising Council as its special task for 1956-57.

What the Advertising Council wanted to tell mankind was how broadly the benefits of the American economic system are shared and the extent to which the ordinary American has money at work helping to produce goods and services.

This is indeed a noble purpose if propaganda of this nature ever has any value, which is very doubtful. The great propagandists in history, Paul, Mahomet, Karl Marx, advocated ideas rather than financial benefits; Winston Churchill put spine into a suffering Britain, but advocated abnegation—blood, sweat and tears—just as Gautama, Francis of Assisi and Gandhi offered poverty and faith rather than material benefits to a saddened world.

Americans regard themselves as very practical people and believe that they can accomplish anything by advertising and public relations. They can prove that by their ability to sell anything from chewing gum to automobiles in huge quantities.

However, why is it that they have not been able to sell Thomas Jefferson or even Franklin D. Roosevelt to the peoples of Europe and Asia?

Is it because what they did try to sell, the superiority of the automobiles over the bicycle or the camel, did not interest those peoples?

Why have they not been able to influence any part of Asia that the United States is a friendly, cheerful, free-giving nation without ulterior motives and without a desire to seize any land or any people?

Nobody believes that to be true in Asia not even the Japanese and Filipinos who should know how true it is.

Apparently what these sellers of soup and steel and cosmetics do not understand is that when a people is in real trouble, when life seems utterly unbearable, what the individual wants is not some more things but a greater assurance of love and peace.

It is like a little boy at a place like Coney Island who all day long is demanding hot dogs and pink candy and corn-on-the-cob, and a ride over this and over that. Then the tummy begins to ache and the eyelids grow heavy and he puts his hand in mama's hand and all he wants is a shoulder to cuddle against and the pat of a loving hand on the back of his head.

He has had all the things that he ever dreamed of, but what he really wants is the love of those who can give him comfort. The great force of the teachings of Jesus in the Roman Empire was that it came when Rome was at its richest in things but at its poorest in faith and the little men out of Palestine and Syria taught love and faith and hope.

"Come ye that labor and are heavy laden..." They did not offer a single tangible thing; they only offered ideas.

The same phenomenon occurred in China where American, British and other businessmen and missionaries were building big hospitals and universities and the Communists came empty-handed with the slogan of national independence.

Between 1919 and 1925, I studied this particular phenomenon as closely as any man who is alive today and I can say truthfully that the Russians gave the Chinese Communists nothing but demanded the greatest sacrifices. They recognized that what the young men and women wanted was an opportunity to sacrifice themselves, to go through hardships, to suffer privations.

The Advertising Council ought to endow a seat in a university to do research in historical psychology, so that it might be proved to their contributors that it is easier to sell an American girl a new hair set than it is a Buddhist the idea that possession of material things is essential to his achieving eternal glory.

It's Hard To Beat Plain Old Aspirin

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IF I were to be deprived of all rheumatoid arthritis and similar our wonderful modern medicines diseases. In fact, many doctors say aspirin is as effective in this field as ACTH and cortisone.

Aspirin also is used universally to help reduce fever. When you have a cold, your doctor generally suggests taking aspirin to bring your temperature down.

Aspirin has been around quite a while. For 103 years, it has been used to relieve pain, reduce fever and inflammation, but we still don't know much about it.

Not only can we use aspirin in treating so many ailments, but we can use it with perfect safety. Proof of this is demonstrated in the fact that some 12,000,000,000 five-grain aspirin tablets are consumed in the United States each year.

Aspirin can be used for alleviating pain. I'm sure most of you have used it many times to get rid of headaches and other minor pains.

Recent 'Mock Alert' Should Awaken Us

The recent "mock alert" for an aerial attack in this nation received little attention from the general public here in Fayette County and the same is true of almost every other locality in the country, according to reports.

If the real thing had occurred, it is said, approximately one out of every three people in the nation theoretically today might be dead, injured or hiding away in basements or ruins of many municipalities.

Survivors in Fayette County supposedly are still worrying about radioactive "fall-out" and seeking to aid victims, if this had been the real thing. H-bombs theoretically were dropped on more than 150 prime targets of which Dayton was one and is close enough to have meant trouble here.

Perhaps the non-interest shown by most people in the country resulted from the advance warning that what was to happen need cause no alarm because it was only a "play" alert, but if it had been real and unexpected like Pearl Harbor, what would all of us be doing today?

Although the results of the recent mock alert were disappointing, Civil Defense officials say, because the country showed how unprepared we are for a real catastrophe of this nature, they may serve to put the nation on guard in a better way for the future.

Today civilian populace hasn't the foggiest notion what to do should the United States come under aerial attack. There is no concentrated effort to instruct people on survival techniques.

The civilian defense organizations, no matter how well drilled and schooled they may be, cannot hope to succeed as long as their efforts are greeted by public apathy and indifference. There are several factors which contribute to this indifference.

The attitude that "it can't happen here" prevails. This attitude is almost a part of the American character. As a paradox, there is the unfortunate feeling that if it did happen, if an atomic bomb should be dropped near us, there can be no hope of survival and preparation is futile.

A greater effort to educate and convince the public of the need for civilian defense seems to be in order. We must accept the fact that it can happen here—and that if it does, adequate preparation can save lives. It will not be easy to change the public attitude toward civilian defense, yet with all of the modern methods of communication at our disposal, with all of our knowledge of the techniques of education and persuasion, the task should not be impossible.

A Matter of Psychology

By George Sokolsky

I have often wondered who was responsible for the slogan "People's Capitalism," which numerous American agencies scattered about the world in competition with Soviet Russia's "People's Democracy."

Both terms are, of course, meaningless, capitalism being a system of the individual's authority over his own earnings, a system which today exists nowhere, whereas democracy is the antithesis in Soviet Russia, its allies or satellites.

Slogans are usually like that—just downright lies.

It would seem that the phrase "people's capitalism" was developed by the United States Information Agency but accepted by the advertising Council as its special task for 1956-57.

What the Advertising Council wanted to tell mankind was how broadly the benefits of the American economic system are shared and the extent to which the ordinary American has money at work helping to produce goods and services.

This is indeed a noble purpose if propaganda of this nature ever has any value, which is very doubtful. The great propagandists in history, Paul, Mahomet, Karl Marx, advocated ideas rather than financial benefits; Winston Churchill put spine into a suffering Britain, but advocated abnegation—blood, sweat and tears—just as Gautama, Francis of Assisi and Gandhi offered poverty and faith rather than material benefits to a saddened world.

Americans regard themselves as very practical people and believe that they can accomplish anything by advertising and public relations. They can prove that by their ability to sell anything from chewing gum to automobiles in huge quantities.

However, why is it that they have not been able to sell Thomas Jefferson or even Franklin D. Roosevelt to the peoples of Europe and Asia?

Is it because what they did try to sell, the superiority of the automobiles over the bicycle or the camel, did not interest those peoples?

Why have they not been able to influence any part of Asia that the United States is a friendly, cheerful, free-giving nation without ulterior motives and without a desire to seize any land or any people?

Nobody believes that to be true in Asia not even the Japanese and Filipinos who should know how true it is.

Apparently what these sellers of soap and steel and cosmetics do not understand is that when a people is in real trouble, when life seems utterly unbearable, what the individual wants is not some more things but a greater assurance of love and peace.

It is like a little boy at a place like Coney Island who all day long is demanding hot dogs and pink candy and corn-on-the-cob, and a ride over this and over that. Then the tummy begins to ache and the eyelids grow heavy and he puts his hand in mama's hand and all he wants is a shoulder to cuddle against and the pat of a loving hand on the back of his head.

He has had all the things that he ever dreamed of, but what he really wants is the love of those who can give him comfort. The great force of the teachings of Jesus in the Roman Empire was that it came when Rome was at its richest in things but at its poorest in faith and the little men out of Palestine and Syria taught love and faith and hope.

"Come ye that labor and are heavy laden..." They did not offer a single tangible thing; they only offered ideas.

The same phenomenon occurred in China where American, British and other businessmen and missionaries were building big hospitals and universities and the Communists came empty-handed with the slogan of national independence.

Between 1919 and 1925, I studied this particular phenomenon as closely as any man who is alive today and I can say truthfully that the Russians gave the Chinese Communists nothing but demanded the greatest sacrifices. They recognized that what the young men and women wanted was an opportunity to sacrifice themselves, to go through hardships, to suffer privations.

The Advertising Council ought to endow a seat in a university to do research in historical psychology, so that it might be provided to their contributors that it is easier to sell an American girl a new hair set than it is a Buddhist the idea that possession of material things is essential to his achieving eternal glory.

It's Hard To Beat Plain Old Aspirin

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IF I were to be deprived of all our wonderful modern medicines and told that I could only have one drug to use for my patients, I would choose aspirin.

I think I would pick the old reliable, acetylsalicylic acid, or just plain aspirin, one of the most widely used and cheapest drugs we have.

Safe To Use

Not only can we use aspirin in treating so many ailments, but we can use it with perfect safety. Proof of this is demonstrated in the fact that some 12,000,000,000 five-grain aspirin tablets are consumed in the United States each year.

Aspirin can be used for alleviating pain. I'm sure most of you have used it many times to get rid of headaches and other minor pains.

If you have not used aspirin, chances are you have used one of the large number of pain-killing preparations which use aspirin as a major ingredient.

Rheumatic Diseases

Aspirin is an aid in combating rheumatic diseases. It is widely known that it is used in treating rheumatic fever, rheumatoid arthritis and similar diseases.

In fact, many doctors say aspirin is as effective in this field as are ACTH and cortisone.

Aspirin also is used universally to help reduce fever. When you have a cold, your doctor generally suggests taking aspirin to bring your temperature down.

Aspirin has been around quite a while. For 103 years, it has been used to relieve pain, reduce fever and inflammation, but we still don't know much about it.

Some Research

This is another reason why I think I would choose aspirin if I could use but a single drug. In my spare time, I could do some research on it.

Frankly, aspirin still is a mystery to medical men. We know it works, but we don't know just why.

To break any picture-taking tension, Gowland frequently calls a recess for a plunge in the patio pool. He also uses the pool for swimming pictures and has a waterproof camera case for underwater shots.

Gowland usually hires his models, paying $25 an hour to $250 a day depending on the girl and the picture.

Studios are anxious for him to photograph their stars for free. They realize a Gowland pin-up often gets wide play in magazines and newspapers.

Good models are hard to find, Gowland said, and are subject to the law of diminishing returns. There is a constant demand for new faces and figures.

Gowland's current favorite is Sandra Edwards, a raven-haired 19-year-old mother.

"Most of my best models have children," he said. "Motherhood seems to enhance their beauty."

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Washington C. H. like Philadelphia and many other cities, has a liberal portion of streets named after trees.

In fact there are 11 streets in the city so named, and just for good measure one street is called Forest and another Grove. Actually Forest St. is misspelled "Forrest" on the street sign.

Here are the streets named after trees: Sycamore, Oak, Walnut, Oakland, Mulberry, Hickory, Chestnut, Maple, Cedar, Olive and Plum.

TALLEST SILO IN WORLD

Some 50 years ago the largest silo in the world was located in Fayette County.

It was on the Humphrey Jones farm, Waterloo Rd., two miles west of Waterloo, and attracted attention throughout the nation as result of publicity given to it by the manufacturers of an ensilage cutting machine.

The silo was 102 feet in height and 16 feet in diameter, and after being used for many years (but never completely filled insofar as I recall) it was torn down some 15 years ago.

Standing near the silo was a huge concrete tank for watering the large number of cattle annually fed by the well known attorney and farmer of the Torrens Land System legislation — Humphrey Jones.

The big tank was reached by ramps built about it so that cattle could walk up and obtain water.

Matthew Eggleston lived on the farm when the big silo was built, and some question being raised as to the ability of an ensilage cutter and blower to put ensilage in the silo from the top, he took his 22 horse power Reeves traction engine and the ensilage was blown into the silo in a demonstration that attracted many persons to the scene.

It is recalled that after the silo was built, Ernest Eggleston, son of Mat Eggleston, calmly walked around the rim at the top of the 102 foot structure.

122-YEAR-OLD HOUSE

Chester Zimmerman, well known resident of the Zimmerman Rd., a little more than one mile southeast of Buena Vista, lives in a house which was built of brick probably burned nearby 122 years ago. The house is in such good condition that it may be good for another 122 years.

The residence was built by Abe

Crispin, who later sold it and the farm to Joseph Wain, and at his death it came into the possession of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Zimmerman, the former having married a daughter of Mr. and Mr. Wain.

Eli Zimmerman was the grandfather of Chester, and Chester's father was Samuel Zimmerman.

The house is located upon an eminence 200 yards west of Rattlesnake Creek, and across the road from the house is a barn, most of which was built of brick in 1847.

The massive, white-oak timbers in the barn apparently are just as sound as when they were placed there 110 years ago.

A spring which never goes dry, is located 90 feet back of the house and at one time Samuel Zimmerman constructed a fish pond 200 feet long and 150 feet wide which was fed by the spring.

A combination spring house, cellar house, and smokehouse also built of brick when the house was constructed, is still standing.

A well on the premises extends to the limestone 24 feet below, and one at the barn penetrated the limestone at 32 feet.

WAS EXPERT THRESHER

One of the best known old threshing machine operators in northern Fayette County, was Matthew Eggleston, who lived a half mile west of Bloomingburg on Devalon Rd., and who for many years had one of the most modern and complete threshing outfits in the county.

"Mat" was an expert mechanic, and a hard worker. If anything went wrong with the separator, he knew just what to do, and did it with as little delay as possible.

If the steam engine broke down (and this was a rarity while threshing was under way because he always placed his equipment in top condition before starting out) he and his son, Fred made repairs without calling in outside assistance.

He not only did first class work, but went out of his way when necessary to please those for whom he worked.

His son, Fred father of Kenneth Eggleston on N. North St. was his engineer, and also an expert mechanic who kept his equipment in first class condition.

Mat Eggleston was a brother to LaFayette, who for years operated a general store in Bloomingburg. I knew them both and always held them in high regard.

Thanksgiving in the Making:

Brothers are Raising 25,000 White Turkeys North of City

THIS NEW BUILDING 250 feet long, by 40 feet wide, was erected by Robert Miller to house young turkeys in summer and for protecting breeding stock in winter. Below are some of the 4,000 half-grown turkeys in the building. Only white "broad breasts" are raised by Robert and Ervin Miller

By B. E. KELLEY

The Miller brothers, Robert D. of Wildwood Rd., and Ervin P. of Prairie Rd., again are among the big turkey raisers in this part of Ohio, with approximately 25,000 Broad Breasted Whites now headed toward the market for Thanksgiving as well as before and after.

Of this great number of birds, Robert has some 14,000 ranging in age from 2 weeks to 15 weeks old, and Ervin has some 11,000 about the same age. Around 4,000 are now "on range" and all of the birds in the two huge flocks are growing rapidly.

For years the two men have been the county's leading turkey growers, and because of the demand for white-meated turkeys, and birds with an unusually large amount of meat on their breasts, they have held to the Thompson broad breast strains.

THE THOUSANDS of white birds make a picture not soon forgotten, and the various buildings are utilized by both men in handling the series of hatchlings from the little poults up to the time the half-grown fowls are ready to turn on range.

This year Robert Miller constructed a large building with the east end and south side open, where several thousand poults are kept until they are ready for releasing in the open.

The new building is 250 feet long and 40 feet in width. It is equipped with automatic feeders and watering tanks, and when I visited the farm a few days ago there were 4,000 noisy half grown turkeys in the big shed, waiting to be turned loose in the nearby field.

When the birds are matured the hens will average around 15 to 16 pounds and the toms about 24 to 27 pounds. Largest of the 16-week-old birds weigh 8 to 15 pounds.

ERVIN BUILT a turkey house several years ago, and it is around 200 feet in length and 36 feet wide. It has proved a great help in carrying the young turkeys through critical times of youth, as they must be given proper shelter until they reach a certain age, when they are better able to shift for themselves.

Tremendous amounts of feed are necessary to properly care for the young turks and keep them growing to maturity.

The Millers have automatic feed mixers and grinders, and in this way they hold feed costs to a minimum.

THERE IS a lot of hard work and heavy expense in raising

Thanksgiving birds, and already the Miller brothers know where most of their flocks will go, as they market most of the birds in large quantities to some of the largest buyers of turkeys in the country.

First of the turkeys will be ready for the table by late September.

The Millers keep their own breeding stock, and each year select such stock with great care, choosing only the best birds for this important phase of their turkey raising.

When the last turkeys are fed off for the Christmas market, the big building will be utilized to house some 1,200 breeding stock, and the laying season will last from some time in February until the last of May when eggs for hatching other thousands of turkeys will be produced and incubated in both of the large structures.

Howard Ault Jr., a neighbor of Robert Miller, built the big structure.

Mother of 4 Kills Husband After Torture

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—A 31-year-old mother of four held for slaying her husband, an Air Force captain, told newsmen he became depressed and violent speculating on what would happen if he were in a plane that crashed and caught fire.

In one of these fits of depression, Capt. Benjamin E. Dorsey, 33, beat and tortured her Thursday night until she shot him in the heart with a .22-caliber target pistol, said Mrs. Haleen Benson Dorsey.

Mrs. Dorsey's eyes were blackened and her legs covered with cuts and welts when she was jailed on a murder charge. She said her husband also had forced her to light a candle and held her right index finger in the flame "so I could see how it feels to burn."

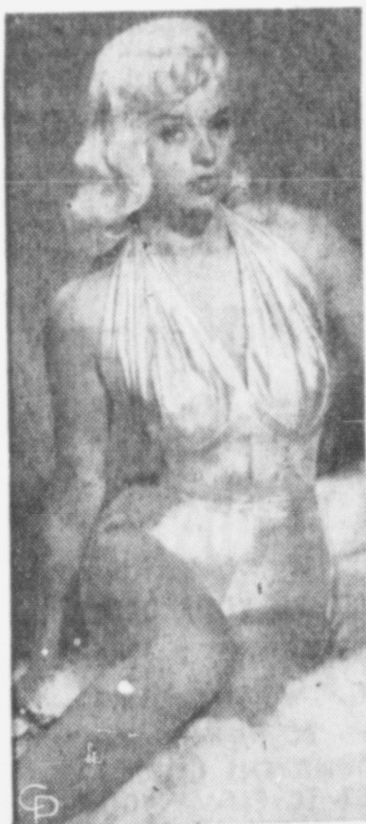

The Dorseys had been married 11 years. He was from Olympia, Wash., and she from Dallas, Tex. Lt. O. F. Love of Chatham County police, said the shooting climaxed a night of terror in which the 6-foot flier alternately beat and kicked his wife, "because he thought she was trying to irritate him."

After the shooting, Mrs. Dorsey fled to the home of a neighbor who called the officers.

Dorsey was commander of the 1025th Airways and Air Communications Squadron at Hunter Air Force Base.

Fayette County Appraisal Figure For 1956 Listed as $61,660,457

Fayette County's total appraised values for tax purposes on all real estate, public utilities and tangible personal property for the year 1956, was $61,660,457, according to figures released by Stat. Auditor James A. Rhodes. This was an increase of $1,125,350 over the previous year.

Because of the countywide appraisal now being made here it is estimated by county officials here that the 1958 appraised values covering these same properties probably will jump several million dollars higher.

Much of this increase will be due to the large amount of new building done in this county within the last two years which, until the present reappraisal got underway, was not listed on the tax books.

The state auditor's statement on Fayette County listed the appraised values on real estate and public utilities for 1956 as $48,949,330 and for personal property $12,711,127.

IN THE immediate neighboring counties the total appraised values on real estate, personal property and public utilities for 1956 was listed as follows:

Clinton $62,037,547; Highland $45,652,227; Madison $58,330,323; Ross $112,926,752; Pickaway $95,384,168; Greene $129,929,456.

Among Fayette's bordering counties, Greene due to its huge increase in residence construction because of its proximity to Dayton's Wright Field and other Dayton industries, made the greatest gain in 1956 over 1955, more than $10,250,000.

The next highest increase among these nearby counties was Pickaway which showed a gain during the same period of $7,965,609. Ross County's gain was approximately $4,300,000. Madison and Clinton counties showed about the same total gain for the year as did Fayette.

IN COMMENTS Rhodes said that the state showed an increase of more than a billion dollars in one year. The total appraised value of all real estate, public utilities and tangible personal property in Ohio is $22,976,292,205.

Approximately 70 percent of this $22.9 billion in taxable wealth is inside Ohio cities and incorporated villages; 30 percent in the rural areas outside.

Reports from the 88 county auditors to Rhodes' office show $16,475,927,737 in real estate, public utilities and tangible personal property inside cities and villages and $6,509,364,468 outside incorporated places.

Real estate accounts accounts for $14,864,392,240 of the total valuation; tangible personal property, $5,124,231,725 and public utilities, $2,987,668,230.

Six counties show a total valuation in excess of one billion dollars, the same as last year. They are: Cuyahoga, $4,712,804,934; Hamilton, $2,418,466,700; Franklin, $1,447,127,711; Lucas, $1,213,967,860; Montgomery, $1,130,853,964; Summit, $1,113,418,600.

The $22.9 billion grand duplicate is the 1956 appraised value of property on which taxes that are being collected this year are based. The new valuation is almost double what it was only 10 years ago; 28 times the appraised value of all property 100 years ago.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY
Washington, C. H. like Philadelphia and many other cities, has a liberal portion of streets named after trees.

In fact there are 11 streets in the city so named, and just for good measure one street is called Forest and another Grove. Actually Forest St. is misspelled "Forrest" on the street sign.

Here are the streets named after trees: Sycamore, Oak, Walnut, Oakland, Mulberry, Hickory, Chestnut, Maple, Cedar, Olive and Plum.

TALLEST SILO IN WORLD

Some 50 years ago the largest silo in the world was located in Fayette County.

It was on the Humphrey Jones farm, Waterloo Rd., two miles west of Waterloo, and attracted attention throughout the nation as result of publicity given to it by the manufacturers of an ensilage cutting machine.

The silo was 102 feet in height and 16 feet in diameter, and after being used for many years (but never completely filled insofar as I recall) it was torn down some 15 years ago.

Standing near the silo was a huge concrete tank for watering the large number of cattle annually fed by the well known attorney and framer of the Torrens Land System legislation—Humphrey Jones.

The big tank was reached by ramps built about it so that cattle could walk up and obtain water.

Matthew Eggleston lived on the farm when the big silo was built, and some question being raised as to the ability of an ensilage cutter and blower to put ensilage in the silo from the top, he took his 22 horse power Reeves traction engine and the ensilage was blown into the silo in a demonstration that attracted many persons to the scene.

It is recalled that after the silo was built, Ernest Eggleston, son of Mat Eggleston, calmly walked around the rim at the top of the 102 foot structure.

122-YEAR-OLD HOUSE

Chester Zimmerman, well known resident of the Zimmerman Rd., a little more than one mile southeast of Buena Vista, lives in a house which was built of brick probably burned nearby 122 years ago. The house is in such good condition that it may be good for another 122 years.

The residence was built by Abe

Crispin, who later sold it and the farm to Joseph Wain, and at his death it came into the possession of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Zimmerman, the former having married a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wain.

Eli Zimmerman was the grandfather of Chester, and Chester's father was Samuel Zimmerman.

The house is located upon an eminence 200 yards west of Rattlesnake Creek, and across the road from the house is a barn, most of which was built of brick in 1847.

The massive, white-oak timbers in the barn apparently are just as sound as when they were placed there 110 years ago.

A spring which never goes dry, is located 100 feet back of the house and at one time Samuel Zimmerman constructed a fish pond 200 feet long and 150 feet wide which was fed by the spring.

A combination spring house, cellar house, and smokehouse also built of brick when the house was constructed, is still standing.

A well on the premises extends to the limestone 24 feet below, and one at the barn penetrated the limestone at 32 feet.

WAS EXPERT THRESHER

One of the best known old threshing machine operators in northern Fayette County, was Matthew Eggleston, who lived a half mile west of Bloomingburg on Devalon Rd., and who for many years had one of the most modern and complete threshing outfits in the county.

"Mat" was an expert mechanic, and a hard worker. If anything went wrong with the separator, he knew just what to do, and did it with as little delay as possible.

If the steam engine broke down (and this was a rarity while threshing was under way because he always placed his equipment in top condition before starting out) he and his son, Fred made repairs without calling in outside assistance.

He not only did first class work, but went out of his way when necessary to please those for whom he worked.

His son, Fred father of Kenneth Eggleston on N. North St. was his engineer, and also an expert mechanic who kept his equipment in first class condition.

Mat Eggleston was a brother to LaFayette, who for years operated a general store in Bloomingburg. I knew them both and always held them in high regard.

Thanksgiving in the Making:

Brothers are Raising 25,000 White Turkeys North of City

THIS NEW BUILDING 250 feet long, by 40 feet wide, was erected by Robert Miller to house young turkeys in summer and for protecting breeding stock in winter. Below are some of the 4,000 half-grown turkeys in the building. Only white "broad breasts" are raised by Robert and Ervin Miller.

By B. E. KELLEY

The Miller brothers, Robert D. of Wildwood Rd., and Ervin P. of Prairie Rd., again are among the big turkey raisers in this part of Ohio, with approximately 25,000 Broad Breasted Whites now headed toward the market for Thanksgiving as well as before and after.

Of this great number of birds, Robert has some 14,000 ranging in age from 2 weeks to 15 weeks old, and Ervin has some 11,000 about the same age. Around 4,000 are now "on range" and all of the birds in the two huge flocks are growing rapidly.

For years the two men have been the county's leading turkey growers, and because of the demand for white-meated turkeys, and birds with an unusually large amount of meat on their breasts, they have held to the Thompson broad breast strains.

THE THOUSANDS of white birds make a picture not soon forgotten, and the various buildings are utilized by both men in handling the series of hatchings from the little poults up to the time the half-grown fowls are ready to turn on range.

This year Robert Miller constructed a large building with the east end and south side open, where several thousand poults are kept until they are ready for releasing in the open.

The new building is 250 feet long and 40 feet in width. It is equipped with automatic feeders and watering tanks, and when I visited the farm a few days ago there were 4,000 noisy half grown turkeys in the big shed, waiting to be turned loose in the nearby field.

When the birds are matured the hens will average around 15 to 16 pounds and the toms about 24 to 27 pounds. Largest of the 16-week-old birds weigh 8 to 15 pounds.

ERVIN BUILT a turkey house several years ago, and it is around 200 feet in length and 36 feet wide. It has proved a great help in carrying the young turkeys through critical times of youth, as they must be given proper shelter until they reach a certain age, when they are better able to shift for themselves.

Tremendous amounts of feed are necessary to properly care for the young turks and keep them growing to maturity.

The Millers have automatic feed mixers and grinders, and in this way they hold feed costs to a minimum.

THERE IS a lot of hard work and heavy expense in raising

Thanksgiving birds, and already the Miller brothers know where most of their flocks will go, as they market most of the birds in large quantities to some of the largest buyers of turkeys in the country.

First of the turkeys will be ready for the table by late September.

The Millers keep their own breeding stock, and each year select such stock with great care, choosing only the best birds for this important phase of their turkey raising.

When the last turkeys are fed off for the Christmas market, the big building will be utilized to house some 1,200 breeding stock, and the laying season will last from some time in February until the last of May when eggs for hatchling other thousands of turkeys will be produced and incubated in both of the large structures.

Howard Ault Jr., a neighbor of Robert Miller, built the big structure.

Lima Couple's Parley with 'Khrush' Eyed

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A Lima, Ohio, couple's report on an interview with Nikita Khrushchev has set up the possibility of a long-term student exchange between the USSR and the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McLain, traveling with a group of 24 American tourists, said "Khrushchev suggested the exchange and added: 'Let us see which are influenced the most by the other's ideology.'"

The McLains said the Soviet leader proposed an exchange of several hundred students with the Soviet Union paying expenses for the Americans and the U. S. paying expenses of the Russians.

The U. S. National Student Assn. with headquarters here, Friday cabled Khrushchev that it "welcomes long-term academic exchange which we proposed at our congress two years ago. In view of your statement now favoring such exchange we have renewed our proposal to the Committee of Youth Organizations and ask your support in bringing program to fruition."

The McLain conversation with Khrushchev was described as friendly with jibes from Khrushchev at reluctance of the United States to admit Communists and Russians because of security reasons.

"Our bombs and rockets are no worse than yours," Khrushchev was quoted as saying. "Security as a reason to keep Russians out of United States holds no water."

Cincinnati Returns Home After Peek at Red Chinese

CINCINNATI (AP) — Donald J. Blackwood and his family, interned in Red China after an impulsive peek behind the Bamboo Curtain, have arrived here to make what he hopes is a permanent home—and get some rest.

"We've been back only two hours," he said Friday night, "and we're awfully tired."

Blackwood, his Korean wife Jung Sook Rhee and their 11-month old son, Bobby, were ousted from Red China earlier this month after a 2½-month detention.

Blackwood was rueful about the trip which caused his father, James D. Blackwood, to fly to Hong Kong and nearby Macao to seek an explanation for his son's disappearance.

Young Blackwood said his trip was "not especially rewarding, not when you balance everything, the trouble and expense to the family."

The couple slipped into Red

China from nearby Portuguese Macao on April 27, but were quickly detected and taken to Canton where they were detained until last July 12.

THE BLACKWOODS were still surprised at the international concern started by their unauthorized trip. "I didn't expect it," Blackwood said, "and I certainly didn't try to make it anything like that."

The young American family got a quick look at Canton before being unceremoniously bundled out of the country. Blackwood said "the streets are clean, but people are sleeping in them."

He said he "didn't see many soldiers," and that "almost everyone was dressed poorly."

The Blackwoods returned Friday night by train from Seattle where they had debarked after a flight from Hong Kong.

Blackwood said he hopes to be able to help his father, who operates a string of drive-in restaurants here.

He said, "We're all happy to be settled where we can stay a while."

Korean Bonus Lag Explained By State Aide

COLUMBUS (AP) — Wondering what the State of Ohio is doing with your Korean bonus application? It is probably checking your overseas service dates.

Korean conflict discharge papers show elapsed time overseas, but not exact dates. But Director C. W. Goble of the Ohio bonus office points out the law covering bonus payments allows overseas awards only between exact dates, June 25, 1950, and July 19, 1953, when the shooting war began and ended.

That means every Ohio bonus application must be checked with federal record centers in Washington and St. Louis. The bottleneck is jammed and then some. Goble reports:

"We are at the saturation point so far as speed is concerned. The record centers are cooperating 100 per cent, but they can only go so fast."

Bonus applications began to pour in last March 12 and the deadline is Dec. 31, 1958.

As of Thursday the state had paid $9,705,183 to 41,551 claimants. When the job is finished, payments probably will be in the vicinity of $60 million to about 250,000 Korean veterans.

Thank You!

Lima Couple's Parley with 'Khrush' Eyed

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A Lima, Ohio, couple's report on an interview with Nikita Khrushchev has set up the possibility of a long-term student exchange between the USSR and the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McLain, traveling with a group of 24 American tourists, said "Khrushchev suggested the exchange and added: 'Let us see which are influenced the most by the other's ideology.'"

The McLains said the Soviet leader proposed an exchange of several hundred students with the Americans and the U. S. paying expenses of the Russians.

The U. S. National Student Assn. with headquarters here, Friday cabled Khrushchev that it "welcomes long-term academic exchange which we proposed at our congress two years ago. In view of our statement now favoring such exchange we have renewed our proposal to the Committee of Youth Organizations and ask your support in bringing program to fruition."

The McLain conversation with Khrushchev was described as friendly with jibes from Khrushchev at reluctance of the United States to admit Communists and Russians because of security reasons.

"Our bombs and rockets are no worse than yours," Khrushchev was quoted as saying. "Security was a reason to keep Russians out of United States holds no water."

Korean Bonus Lag Explained By State Aide

COLUMBUS (AP) — Wondering what the State of Ohio is doing with your Korean bonus application? It is probably checking your overseas service dates.

Korean conflict discharge papers show elapsed time overseas, but not exact dates. But Director C. W. Goble of the Ohio bonus office points out the law covering bonus payments allows overseas awards only between exact dates, June 25, 1950, and July 19, 1953, when the shooting war began and ended.

That means every Ohio bonus application must be checked with federal record centers in Washington and St. Louis. The bottleneck is jammed and then some. Goble reports:

"We are at the saturation point so far as speed is concerned. The record centers are cooperating 100 per cent, but they can only go so fast."

Bonus applications began to pour in last March 12 and the deadline is Dec. 31, 1958.

As of Thursday, the state had paid $9,705,183 to 41,551 claimants. When the job is finished, payments probably will be in the vicinity of $80 million to about 250,000 Korean veterans.

Only Brooklyn Fails To Act Like 'Old Pro' In Hectic Flag Chase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — For the moment, anyway, it looks as if all the contenders in that fantastic National League pennant brawl are a bunch of "old pros." All that is, except the Old Pros themselves — Brooklyn's Dodgers.

Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Philadelphia all came through in the clutch as the battle rolled through four extra-inning games Friday while the Brooks, taking their lumps away from chummy Ebbs Field, fell short and skidded to fourth with their third defeat in a row.

The Braves had to win to hold the lead, and they did—beating New York's Giants 6-3 on an 11-inning, three-run homer by Nippy Jones.

The Cardinals had to win to stay within three percentage points of Milwaukee, and they did—defeating Pittsburgh 4-3 as Al Dark singled with the bases loaded in the 10th.

The Redlegs had to win to stay only a game off the pace, and they did—blowing a 5-1 lead as the Dodgers gave it the big try, but coming back to win 6-5 in 11 innings on a two out single by Johnny Temple.

And the Phillies, scrambling to stay alive, turned on the juice in the 10th to pick up two unearned runs that beat Chicago's Cubs 3-1, leaving the fifth-place Phils just a half game behind Brooklyn.

The American League race showed signs of coming alive, too, what with Jim Bunning two-hitting New York for a 3-2 Detroit victory. The Yankees have lost three in a row and five of seven to lead Chicago by three games. The White Sox, after losing 5-2 at Baltimore, came back to win the second game of a two-night doubleheader 1-0 on the two-hit pitching of Jim Wilson and Billy Pierce who made his second relief appearance to save it.

Boston walloped Cleveland 10-1, with Ted Williams taking an undisputed hold on the batting lead again and Washington beat Kansas City 3-2.

The Braves, after losing two in a row to the Phillies, got back to business with a punt by De' Crandall, a sacrifice and an intentional walk to Andy Pafko. Then along came Jones. The ex-Cardinal, back to the majors as a first base reserve after Joe Adcock broke a leg, walloped one of reliever Stu Miller's soft pitches to bust it up.

Gene Conley won it with a perfect three-inning relief job after Lew Burdette had been smacked for three home runs, by Hank Sauer, starting pitcher Ruben Gomez and Ed Bressoud. The Braves tied the Giants with two runs in the seventh as Red Schoendienst pushed his hit streak to 23 games with an RBI double and scored on a single by Frank Torre.

Bolt Slips A Little In Eastern Open

BALTIMORE (P) — Tommy Bolt had one of golf's most self-confident players and another fighting to make his first Ryder Cup team breathing down his neck to start today's third round in the Eastern Open.

Bolt couldn't come close to continuing his record breaking start and went off with only a two-stroke lead over Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso.

Temperamental Tommy fell from 64 to par 72 Friday and had a tough time to do that well on Mount Pleasant's 6,895-yard course to record a halfway total 136.

Ford, Masters champ and total winner of more than $38,000, stayed consistently at 69 for the second time while Hawkins whipped out a 66 behind his opening 72 for 'his 138.

Don Frifield of Casey, Ill., was next in line with a total 139 strokes in the field of 96 remaining after those higher than 151 were eliminated Friday.

The 33-year-old Hawkins admitted that a chance to make the 10-man Ryder Cup team was a big inducement for him to play in the $20,000 Eastern which is the last chance for eligibles to earn points. Hawkins was 11th in the Ryder standings going into this 72-hole tournament.

Field Is Bunched In Women's Open

DETROIT (P) — The field is so closely bunched going into today's third round of the $7500 Wolverine Ladies' Open that any one of 14 golfers could move into command.

In a heavy assault on par, 15 of the contestants bettered ladies' par of 37-38 — 75 in Friday's second round and steady-swinging Connie Colby edged into a one-stroke lead at 142.

The chunky 25-year-old former Michigan amateur star now playing out of Miami Beach, Fla., recorded her second straight 71, and was a stroke ahead of Kathy Cornelius and Mary Faulk.

Dudley Drives Winners in Four of Eight Dashes

Track Record for 3-year-old Trotters Broken at Fair Here by Annette Sue

A new track record for 3-year-old trotters was set at the Fair here Friday afternoon when Annette Sue, a bay filly owned and driven by Dorsey Greeno of Findlay, turned the mile in 2:06.3 in the first dash of the eight-dash program.

(The new record was announced from the judges' stand, but previous record and the name of the horse that set it were not immediately available in the office.)

But, Dudley Moon, New Holland owner-trainer-driver, almost stole the show when he brought home the winners in four dashes-half of the eight-dash card.

The afternoon was marred by one spill, but neither Ruth Will nor her owner-driver, Ed Williams of Wilmington, was seriously injured when the bay mare went down as the field headed into the back stretch right after the start of the first dash of the 2-year-old and 30 class trot. She was last when she fell and, thus, did not pile up any others in the race.

ONE OF THE most spectacular

performances ever given by a horse on the old track was that by the 2-year-old Escapade's Spud, owned by John Barnes and Ivan Hill of Mt. Sterling and driven by Moon. After going away on a break in the second dash of the 2-year-old and 30 class trot, he lost a good 20 lengths before Moon could get him flat. But, once he started trotting, he closed the gap and picked up the other three horses left in the race (Ruth Will did not come back after falling in the first dash) and closed with a rush through the stretch to win by a length.

Time of the race was only 2:14.1 but Escapade's Spud had to step up that pace considerably to make up lost ground.

There were no long shots in the mutual betting and, oddly enough, the top price of $7.80 was paid on Annette Sue when she set the new track mark. She went to the top at the start and won easily over Kimberly Way.

The second dash of the race was a repeat performance of the first—Annette Sue all the way, with Kimberly Way and Wonder Bud, owned and driven by Harold Laymon of Washington C. H., third.

The Sagar trophy was presented to Greeno, owner of Annette Sue.

MOON DROVE the first of his four winners in the first dash of the 24 class pace, when he brought Scottish Light under the wire in a close finish after staying off a stretch driven by Dan Cash.

Although Moon had Scottish Light on top all the way in the first dash to win in 2:10, he did not pull the bay mare out in front in the second dash until they had gone half a mile. Then she went on to win easily in 2:07.3, with Dan Cash second again and Lucky Chuch third.

The trophy by Schorr's Jewelers was presented to Frank W. Junk of Washington C. H., owner of Scottish Light.

MOON piloted his second winner of the afternoon when he brought Escapade's Spud home in 2:13 in the first dash of the 2-year-old and 30 class trot.

He won it easily with Avaway owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Moody of Xenia and Miss Prone of the Belle Aire Farm stables trailing.

It was in the second dash of this race that Escapade's Spud closed the 20-length gap to beat out Avaway with Kate Lind third.

The Kirk's Furniture Store trophy went to Barnes and Hill, owner of Escapade's Spud.

BILLIE M. NAYLOR, owner and driven by Forrest W. Jones of Cedarville, won both ends of the 18 class pace in one of the closest finishes of the day.

With the chestnut gelding "under a blanket" at the wire were Shangri La Ronnie, second, and Clever Lad, third. The three came down the stretch across the track in a high-line drive so closely bunched that it took the camera to determine the winner.

Billie M. Naylor also won the second dash after taking the top early and withstanding another closing rush by the same two horses, except in reversed positions.

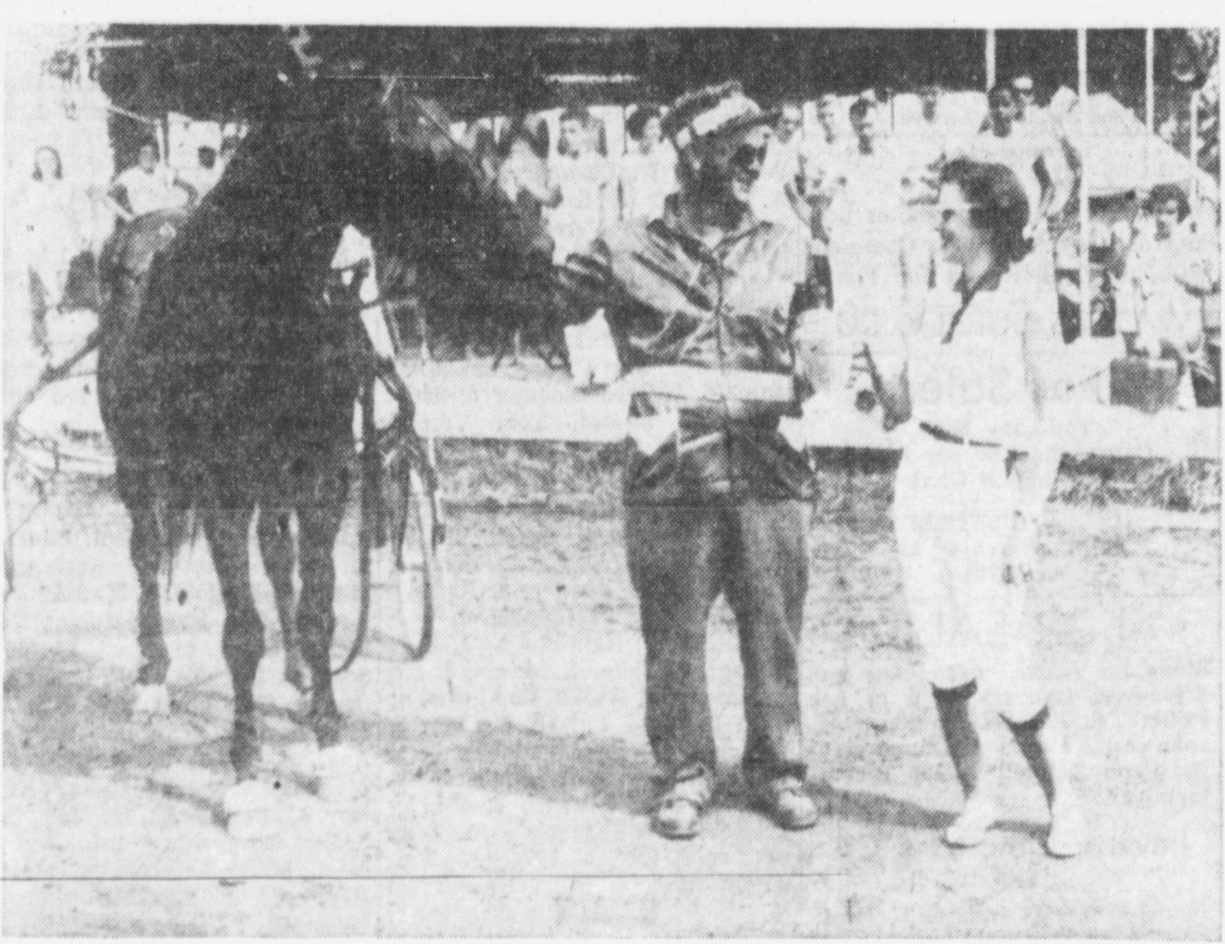

Time of the first mile was 2:11.3 but they clipped more than three seconds off of that when they went

Argentine Ready For Bigger Fights

WASHINGTON (P) — Argentina's lethal-fisted Alex Miteff counted another knockout victim today and got set for a leap into heavyweight light society.

Miteff, 22, found the doors opening after overpunching Cuban Julio Mederos in a brawl at Capitol Arena Friday night.

Mederos, his face ballooning and blood gushing from cuts inside the mouth, was unable to report for action after the sixth round. Under District of Columbia boxing rules, it was recorded as a seventh round technical knockout. He also was shelved for two months as a result of the beating.

All Stars Go to Semi-finals Of Babe Ruth League Tourney

The National division All Stars of the local Babe Ruth loop rolled to their second straight victory in tournament competition Friday afternoon as they belted the Hamilton Westside entry, 9-4.

The victory over the Westside nine enabled Fayette Nationals to participate in the semi-finals for the district championship. They will tangle with Phillipsburg, hosts of the tourney, Saturday (tonight) at 6 p. m. The winner of this game will play again at 8 p. m. for the tournament title.

Mike Lawrence, Terry Stilling and Don Strouth had two hits apiece in the locals' winning cause.

The Anderson's Restaurant trophy went to Jones, owner and driver of the winner.

THERE WAS NO show betting on six of the eight dashes and only five of the mutual pay-offs (including place and show) were at better than even money. This was in contrast to the succession of long shots the first two days of racing.

The crowd that nearly filled the old grandstand (capacity estimated at 2,500) was brought to its collective feet yelling in nearly every race as the trotters and pacers came pounding down the stretch.

Nearly as many saw the races from the outside of the grandstand. They were banded two and three deep in spots nearly half way around the track.

Shaltry Effective As Cubs Drub Jets

Paul Shaltry hurled his best game at Wilson Field Friday evening and watched his mates bang out 10 hits while the Cubs drubbed the Jets, 15-3.

Shaltry, though by many as only a three-inning twirler, went the distance and helped his own cause with 3 hits in 3 trips and scored 4 runs. Gary Kimball also had 3 for 3 for the victorious Cubs.

With the score at 7-2 in favor of the Cubs, the Jets appeared to be starting a rally when they filled the bases with none out. But their bid for a comeback went by the boards as Shaltry retired the next three batters without a run scoring.

Mike Burris was the hitting star for the Jets with 3 for 3 but his efforts were to no avail as the rest of his mates were able to get only 4 other hits. Mike Kelley, southpaw first sacker for the Jets, had two hits.

Redlegs Trip Dodgers in 11 Innings

CINCINNATI (P) — A renewed meeting between Cincinnati's Redlegs and Brooklyn's Dodgers produced no new fisticuffs — just a tension crammed game that took the Reds 11 innings to win.

The Reds has built up an early four-run cushion Friday night and then coasted into a 5-5 tie. It took a double by reliever Hershel Freeman and a run-making single by Johnny Temple to win the game, 6-5.

As to the possible fist-fighting, both sides had a stern admonition against any outbreak from National League President Warren Giles. He warned the four principals in the Ebbs Field fracas last July 11 not to stage a repetition. And for added emphasis, he warned the managers, too.

The Rhinelanders had staged an uprising in the fifth inning with a five-run rally on five hits—including two homers.

Ed Bailey started the outburst with his home run, and Don Hoak and Roy McMillan set the stage for two more runs with a single and a punt.

The two base-runners advanced on a sacrifice by Hal Jeffcoat, and scored on Temple's single and Gus Bell's sacrifice fly.

That's when Wally Post belted his homer over the wall.

The second of three games this afternoon, with John Klippstein booked to oppose young Dan McDevitt on the mound.

Patterson Set For Title Bout

Jackson Makes Bid For Crown Monday

NEW YORK (P) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is finished with heavy training and waiting for the bell to send him after Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson in Monday night's title match at the Polo Grounds.

After 130 rounds of boxing at his Greenwood Lake, N.Y. camp, the to, called Floyd "a better fighter than he was the night he knocked out Archie Moore."

"He is ready to go 15 rounds, if necessary, and he is hitting hard enough to finish him if he gets the opportunity," said D'Amato.

Jackson wound up his pre-fight boxing today at his remote camp in Columbia, N.J. Before he started he told newsmen he expected to give Patterson such a beating that he wouldn't be interested in any September rematch.

"But I'll go through with it, if he wants to," said Jackson. "I never went back on my word in my life."

While the boxers reached the end of their long training grinds, promoter Emil Lence reported an upsurge of interest in the 15-round match. Lence reported an advance sale of over $125,000. He predicted a gate of "over $300,000" and about 25,000 customers.

Patterson gets a $175,000 guarantee or 40 per cent of the net and radio-TV cash. Jackson gets 20 per cent.

Patterson still was a lopsided 5 to 1 favorite to win and they were quoting an 8 to 5 price that he would stop the Hurricane for the second time in his career. Jackson lost a split decision after a 12-round elimination match with Patterson, June 8, 1956.

Both fighters break camp Sunday. Patterson expected to come at 184 pounds, heaviest of his career, and Jackson probably will weigh about 194 pounds.

Youth League Chatter

On the Sidelines

By DAVID KORN

Having been assured of at least a play-off for the championship of the first round, the Jets sit back and await the results of the last game to be made up in first round play.

In this game, slated for Saturday, the Flashes will oppose the Cubs. The winner of the Cubs - Flashes game will play the Jets for the championship of the first round. Probable pitchers will be Gary Kimball, of Mac Dews' hurling corps, and Billy Halliday trim left-hander for John Breiner and company.

Jim Cook absorbed a very heart-breaking defeat at the hands of the Phillipsburg boys last Saturday in the Babe Ruth League tournament there. Cook was at his very best and deserved a fate somewhat better than defeat. Babe Ruthers from the National division of the local loop, after watching lanky Jim from behind the batting screen, commented after the game that they "had never seen Jim throw so hard." He whiffed 13 enemy batters and gave up only two hits, both to the Phillipsburg leadoff batter.

What with tournaments and all, the action on the youth league fronts has been slight. However, there are still, as always, those prognosticators. General opinion of the second-guessers is that the Jets will win the first round championship of the Little League, and that the Main nine and Brays will romp in the Little Minor League and Babe Ruth League respectively.

The five Seals starting in the All Star tilt for the American division of the local Babe Ruth loop against Phillipsburg Saturday made their doubters eat crow as they banged out five hits in 14 trips to the plate, an average of near 357.

The afternoon was marred by one spill, but neither Ruth Williams nor her owner-driver, Ed Williams of Wilmington, was seriously injured when the bay mare went down as the field headed into the back stretch right after the start of the first dash of the 2-year-old and 30 class trot. She was last when she fell and, thus, did not pile up any others in the race.

ONE OF THE most spectacular performances ever given by a horse on the old track was that by the 2-year-old Escapade's Spud, owned by John Barnes and Ivan Hill of Mt. Sterling and driven by Moon. After going away on a break in the second dash of the 2-year-old and 30 class trot, he lost a good 20 lengths before Moon could get him flat. But, once he started trotting, he closed the gap and picked up the other three horses left in the race (Ruth Will did not come back after falling in the first dash) and closed with a rush through the stretch to win by a length.

Time of the race was only 2:14.1 but Escapade's Spud had to step up that pace considerably to make up lost ground.

There were no long shots in the mutual betting and, oddly enough, the top price of $7.80 was paid on Annette Sue when she set the new track mark. She went to the top at the start and won easily over a Kimberly Way.

The second dash of the race was a repeat performance of the first—Annette Sue all the way, with Kimberly Way and Wonder Bud, owned and driven by Harold Laymon of Washington C. H. third.

The Sagar trophy was presented to Greeno, owner of Annette Sue.

MOON DROVE the first of his four winners in the first dash of the 24 class pace, when he brought Scottish Light under the wire in a close finish after staving off a stretch driven by Dan Cash.

Although Moon had Scottish Light on top all the way in the first dash to win in 2:10, he did not pull the bay mare out in front in the second dash until they had gone half a mile. Then she went on to win easily in 2:07.3, with Dan Cash second again and Lucky Chueh, third.

The trophy by Schorr's Jewelers was presented to Frank W. Junk of Washington C. H., owner of Scottish Light.

Moon piloted his second winner of the afternoon when he brought Escapade's Spud home in 2:13.1 in the first dash of the 2-year-old and 30 class trot.

He won it easily with Avaway owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Moody of Xenia and Miss Prone of the Belle Aire Farm stables trailing.

It was in the second dash of this race that Escapade's Spud closed the 20-length gap to beat out Avaway with Kate Lind third.

The Kirk's Furniture Store trophy went to Barnes and Hill, owner of Escapade's Spud.

BILLIE M. NAYLOR, owned and driven by Forrest W. Jones of Cedarville, won both ends of the 18 class pace in one of the closest finishes of the day.

With the chestnut gelding "under a blanket" at the wire were Shangi La Ronnie, second, and Clever Lad, third. The three came down the stretch across the track in a high-line drive so closely bunched that it took the camera to determine the winner.

Billie M. Naylor also won the second dash after taking the top early and withstanding another early rushing by the same two horses, except in reversed positions.

Time of the first mile was 2:11.3 but they clipped more than three seconds off of that when they went

Argentine Ready For Bigger Fights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Argentinian's lethal-fisted Alex Miteff counted another knockout victim today and got set for a leap into heavyweight high society.

Miteff, 22, found the doors opening after overpunching Cuban Julio Mederos in a brawl at Capitol Arena Friday night.

Mederos, his face ballooning and blood gushing from cuts inside the mouth, was unable to report for action after the sixth round. Under District of Columbia boxing rules, it was recorded as a seventh round technical knockout. He also was shelved for two months as a result of the beating.

QUEEN PRESENTS TROPHY — Fair Queen Betty Carpenter presents Kirk Furniture Store trophy to Dudley Moon just after he had driven Escapade's Spud to a spectacular win in the last dash of the 2-year-old and 30 class trot at the Fair here Friday afternoon. All Stars Go to Semi-finals Of Babe Ruth League Tourney

The National division All Stars of the local Babe Ruth loop rolled to their second straight victory in tournament competition Friday afternoon as they belted the Hamilton Westside entry, 9-4.

The victory over the Westside nine enabled Fayette Nationals to participate in the semi-finals for the second in 2:08.1. The Anderson's Restaurant trophy went to Jones, owner and driver of the winner.

THERE WAS no show betting on six of the eight dashes and only five of the mutual pay-offs including place and show) were at better than even money. This was in contrast to the succession of long shots the first two days of racing.

The crowd that nearly filled the old grandstand (capacity estimated at 2,500) was brought to its collective feet yelling in nearly every race as the trotters and pacers came pounding down the stretch.

Nearly as many saw the races from the outside of the grandstand. They were banded two and three deep in spots nearly half way around the track.

Billy Southworth was the starting hurler for the Fayette Nationals and went the distance, whiffing 12 and walking only 5 batters. At no time in the game was the lanky righthander in serious trouble. He was given excellent support at the dish and especially in the field.

A big 5-run fourth inning was sufficient to sew the game up for the Fayette County boys, although the Westsiders did tally twice in the top of the sixth.

In tonight's action Bud Lynch, Gorton hurler in the regular season, will probably get the call to start. Lynch has been especially effective lately. He is a righthander. If the Fayette Team should start victory in the first game, Terry Stillings will probably be nominated as starter in the "big one."

Shaltry Effective As Cubs Drub Jets

Paul Shaltry hurled his best game at Wilson Field Friday evening and watched his mates bang out 10 hits while the Cubs drubbed the Jets, 15-3.

Shaltry, thought by many as only a three inning twirler, went the distance and helped his own cause with 3 hits in 3 trips and scored 4 runs. Gary Kimball also had 3 for 3 for the victorious Cubs.

With the score at 7-2 in favor of the Cubs, the Jets appeared to be starting a rally when they filled the bases with none out. But their bid for a comeback went by the boards as Shaltry retired the next three batters without a run scoring.

Mike Burris was the hitting star for the Jets with 3 for 3 but his efforts were to no avail as the rest of his mates were able to get only 4 other hits. Mike Kelley, southpaw first sacker for the Jets, had two hits.

In the preliminary Little Minor League game at Wilson Field, the Redlegs defeated the Pennington team, 6-4.

Redlegs Trip Dodgers in 11 Innings

CINCINNATI (AP)—A renewed meeting between Cincinnati's Redlegs and Brooklyn's Dodgers produced no new fistfuffs — just a tension crammed game that took the Reds 11 innings to win.

The Reds has built up an early four-run cushion Friday night and then coasted into a 5-5 tie. It took a double by reliever Hersell Freeman and a run-making single by Johnny Temple to win the game, 6-5.

As to the possible fist-fighting, both sides had a stern admonition against any outbreak from National League President Warren Giles. He warned the four principals in the Ebbets Field fracas last July 11 not to stage a repetition. And for added emphasis, he warned the managers, too.

The Rhinelanders had staged an uprising in the fifth inning with a five-run rally on five hits—including two homers.

Ed Bailey started the outburst with his home run, and Don Hoak and Roy McMillan set the stage for two more runs with a single and a bunt.

The two base-runners advanced on a sacrifice by Hal Jeffcoat, and scored on Temple's single and Gus Bell's sacrifice fly.

That's when Wally Post belted his homer over the wall.

Jackson Makes Bid For Crown Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is finished with heavy training and waiting for the bell to send him after Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson in Monday night's title match at the Polo Grounds.

After 130 rounds of boxing at his Greenood Lake, N.Y. camp, the to, called Floyd "a better fighter than he was the night he knocked out Archie Moore."

"He is ready to go 15 rounds, if necessary, and he is hitting hard enough to finish his man if he gets the opportunity," said Dr. Amato.

Jackson wound up his pre-fight boxing today at his remote camp in Columbia, N.J. Before he started he told newsmen he expected to give Patterson such a beating that he wouldn't be interested in any September rematch.

"But I'll go through with it, if he wants to," said Jackson. "I never went back on my word in my life."

While the boxers reached the end of their long training grinds, promoter Emil Lence reported an upsurge of interest in the 15-round match. Lence reported an advance sale of over $125,000. He predicted a gate of "over $300,000" and about 25,000 customers.

Patterson gets a $175,000 guarantee or 40 per cent of the net and radio-TV cash. Jackson gets 20 per cent.

Patterson still was a lopsided 5 to 1 favorite to win and they were quoting an 8 to 5 price that he would stop the Hurricane for the second time in his career. Jackson lost a split decision after a 12-round elimination match with Patterson, June 8, 1956.

Both fighters break camp Sunday. Patterson expected to come at 184 pounds, heaviest of his career, and Jackson probably will weigh about 194 pounds.

Civil Rights Debate Grows

Jury Trial Plan Hit by Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) today denounced jury trial proposals, a crucial issue in the battle over the civil rights bill, as "a deliberate, premeditated, cleverly concealed smoke screen."

A leader of Northern Democratic senators working with administration forces to prevent further weakening of the House-passed bill, Humphrey said the latest jury trial amendment just added to the "confusion."

The amendment, offered by Sens. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), Ke-fauver (D-Tenn.), and Church (D-Idaho), would write a new federal law governing contempt of court proceedings in all kinds of cases, civil rights, labor or anything else.

Under it, defendants in criminal contempt proceedings, to punish a person for willful disobedience of a court order, would be entitled to trial by jury.

Civil contempt cases, designed to secure compliance with an injunction or other court order but not to punish, would be handled by a judge without a jury.

SEN. RUSSELL (D-Ga.), leader of the Dixie forces fighting the administration measure, promptly congratulated the three senators for their "attempt to preserve the right to trial by jury."

He said after an earlier meeting of 16 Southern senators that they would resort to "every means" at their command to try to defeat the bill unless a jury trial amendment is adopted.

In the face of Russell's obvious threat of a filibuster, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said President Eisenhower and the administration were standing firm against a jury trial amendment.

The bill would empower the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations of voting rights. Persons accused of disobeying the court orders could be jailed for contempt without a jury trial.

The Senate earlier in the week, in a major defeat for the bill's supporters, struck out by a 52-38 vote another section providing similar procedure for the enforcement of civil rights generally.

Meanwhile, most senators reported that the folks back home are displaying little interest in the lengthy battle over civil rights legislation.

Congress members traditionally judge the temper of their constituents by the volume of letters and telegrams dealing with controversial issues. With a few exceptions, the civil rights fight has not resulted in any significant increase in mail.

Four Are Hurt On CCC Highway

Collision Occurs At Berm Repair Job

Four people were injured in one of two separate auto mishaps on the CCC Highway Friday, both accidents following the pattern of previous construction site crackups on that thoroughfare.

Treated for bruises in the emergency room in Memorial Hospital were:

Ella Mae Schof, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schof, Jr., of California, Ky;

Monita Emrick, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Emrick of Columbus;

Her mother, Mrs. Glen Emrick; and

Verdie L. Huckaby of Cincinnati.

THE MISHAP occurred about 3 1/2 miles west of Washington C. H. at 3:50 p. m. when Huckaby, headed west, crashed into the rear of a car driven by Frank Schof, pushing it forward into an auto driven by Mrs. Everett Smith of Jasper-Coil Rd.

Schof and Mrs. Smith were being delayed by a flagman where highway department maintenance crews are sealing the berm.

The Emricks were passengers in the car driven by Mrs. Smith, who is Mrs. Emrick's sister-in-law. Damage was not heavy. Huckaby was charged with failure to stop within assured clear distance.

AN ACCIDENT at the site of a major CCC overhaul three miles north about 2:45 p. m. saw fender and bumper damage done to cars operated by Joseph F. Graham, 49, of Cuyahoga Falls, and Clarence Murphy, 76, of Lancaster. Graham was being delayed by a flagman, and Murphy's car allegedly hit Graham's from the rear.

In an accident on Columbus Ave. about 3:35 p. m., Gary Cockerill, 19, of near Leesburg, pulled from the curb and hit a city police cruiser driven by Patrolman Robert Massie, 29, of 830 Rawlings St. Damage was slight, but Cockerill was charged with reckless operation.

A similar mishap brought slight damage to cars operated by Thomas Martindill, 24, of near Washington C. H. and Jessie Rhodes, 38, of Dayton. Martindill was pulling out of a parking place on S. Fayette St. about 7:45 p. m. when Rhodes went past him and tried to pull into the one ahead, police said.

FAIR CLOSES TONIGHT
by Barbara Sue Kneisley, brought 61 cents a pound, not quite up to last year's price, and the grand champion market lamb, raised by three-time winner David Cook, brought $1.02 1/2 per pound, four times the going market price. Frisch's Big Boy bought the steer and Heifrich's Super Market the lamb.

SATURDAY morning's agenda opened with a Junior Fair tractor contest.

Fair officials described the exposition from a business point of view as the best in eight years.

Excellent weather has been a major attendance factor. There were showers last Monday night, clearing the air for the fair which opened the following day. Since that time the weatherman has smiled, although there is a threat of thundershowers Saturday.

Rain had cut into attendance during the previous three years.

National Cash Sales, Earnings At New Highs

NEW YORK — Both sales and earnings of The National Cash Register Co. for the first six months of 1957 set new records for the period, Stanley C. Allyn, chairman of the board of directors, announced here yesterday following a board meeting at which a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share was declared.

Total sales for the first six months of 1957 were $182,892,587, compared with $155,554,528 for the comparable period of 1956, or an increase of 18 per cent. Net income for the first half of 1957 after taxes and excluding net earnings of foreign subsidiaries and branches not remitted to the United States, was $8,183,297. This compares with net income during the first half of 1956 of $7,724,604, or an increase of 6 per cent.

Earnings for the six-month period were $1.16 per share on the 7,065,023 shares now outstanding, compared with $1.09 per share last year (adjusted from $1.16 on the basis of the 6,678,668 shares outstanding at the end of the first six months of 1956).

Allyn said net income increased by a smaller percentage than sales chiefly because of the company's greater expenditures for engineering and research. He added that the first six months of 1957 set new records for the period for both the company's domestic and overseas sales.

Ohio Hog Prices Continue Climb

COLUMBUS (AP)—Prices for market hogs averaged 30 cents higher in the week just ending at $21.40 per hundred pounds, the Ohio Department of Agriculture reported today.

Light receipts are still a primary factor for the increase in the live price, the department said, although recent receipts have increased at the 85 interior markets surveyed in Ohio.

Sow prices were mostly steady for the week and held to about the same price as a week ago. Most choice sows bulked at $18 to $19 with heavy sows down to $15.

Midcontinent May Get Rain While Northeast Swelters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattering thunderstorms were expected to pelt the nation's midsection again today, but for the drought-stricken Northeast there was no relief in sight.

A teasing trickle of rain was forecast for extreme southern New England. But elsewhere in the parched area it will be sunny and warmer.

The drought in the northeast already has caused millions of dollars to crops. Friday Gov. Foster Furcolo declared Massachusetts in a state of emergency. Some 32 cities and towns in that state are suffering from a drastic water shortage forcing emergency measures.

Some "heavy downpours", the first substantial rainfall to hit Massachusetts since mid-April, fell on southeast portions of the state Friday. Scattered areas of Rhode Island also received some rain.

It was a different story in New Mexico Friday. Floodwaters flashed through the desert country in western New Mexico after a series of cloudbursts.

From 50 to 150 persons were evacuated from their homes for a short time in Grants, a uranium overfilled.

About 1,800 cars were lined up bumper to bumper for 4 1/2 miles on Trans-Continental Highway 66 at Correo, about 29 miles west of Albuquerque, after a traffic accident blocked the road and the rampaging waters made a detour impossible.

Today's wet belt will extend from the western slopes of the Rockies eastward to the Mississippi River and the Gulf and south Atlantic Coast states. Rains also will fall through the central Appalachians, the weatherman said.

Partly cloudy skies with isolated thundershowers were predicted from the Great Lakes southward through Tennessee. Skies will be fair along the Pacific Coast, but showers will begin in the Northwest as a Pacific front approaches.

Boston Battling Coal Wharf Blaze

BOSTON (AP)—Firefighters continued to pour water today on the remains of a five-alarm fire that engulfed one side of the Boston & Maine Railroad's 2,500-foot Mystic River coal wharf Friday night.

Unofficial estimates of damage ranged as high as $1,125,000.

An estimated force of 2,000 men including 500 sailors and Coast Guardsmen, fought the fire in choking black smoke. Wind and high pressure lines sprayed soft coal dust everywhere.

Pending investigation, fire officials declined to assign a cause for the fire.

Civil Rights Debate Grows

Jury Trial Plan Hit by Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) today denounced jury trial proposals, a crucial issue in the battle over the civil rights bill, as "a deliberate, premeditated, cleverly concealed smokescreen."

A leader of Northern Democratic senators working with administration forces to prevent further weakening of the House-passed bill, Humphrey said the latest jury trial amendment just added to the "confusion."

The amendment, offered by Sens. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), Keftauver (D-Tenn.) and Church (D-Idaho), would write a new federal law governing contempt of court proceedings in all kinds of cases, civil rights, labor or anything else.

Under it, defendants in criminal contempt proceedings, to punish a person for willful disobedience of a court order, would be entitled to trial by jury.

Civil contempt cases, designed to secure compliance with an injunction or other court order but not to punish, would be handled by a judge without a jury.

SEN. RUSSELL (D-Ga.), leader of the Dixie forces fighting the administration measure, promptly congratulated the three senators for their "attempt to preserve the right to trial by jury."

He said after an earlier meeting of 16 Southern senators that they would resort to "every means" at their command to try to defeat the bill unless a jury trial amendment is adopted.

In the face of Russell's obvious threat of a filibuster, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said President Eisenhower and the administration were standing firm against a jury trial amendment.

The bill would empower the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations of voting rights. Persons accused of disobeying the court orders could be jailed for contempt without a jury trial.

The Senate earlier in the week, in a major defeat for the bill's supporters, struck out by a 52-38 vote another section providing similar procedure for the enforcement of civil rights generally.

Meanwhile, most senators reported that the folks back home are displaying little interest in the lengthy battle over civil rights legislation.

Congressmen traditionally judge the temper of their constituents by the volume of letters and telegrams dealing with controversial issues. With a few exceptions, the civil rights fight has not resulted in any significant increase in mail.

Four Are Hurt On CCC Highway

Collision Occurs At Berm Repair Job

Four people were injured in one of two separate auto mishaps on the CCC Highway Friday, both accidents following the pattern of previous construction site crupups on that thoroughfare.

Treated for bruises in the emergency room in Memorial Hospital were:

Ella Mae Schof, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schof, Jr., of California, Ky;

Monita Emrick, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Emrick of Columbus;

Verdie L. Huckaby of Cincinnati.

THE MISHAP occurred about 3 1/2 miles west of Washington C. H. at 3:50 p. m. when Huckaby, headed west, crashed into the rear of a car driven by Frank Schof, pushing it forward into an auto driven by Mrs. Everett Smith of Jasper-Coil Rd.

Schof and Mrs. Smith were being delayed by a flagman where highway department maintenance crews are sealing the berm.

The Emricks were passengers in the car driven by Mrs. Smith, who is Mrs. Emrick's sister-in-law. Damage was not heavy. Huckaby was charged with failure to stop within assured clear distance.

AN ACCIDENT at the site of a major CCC overhaul three miles north about 2:45 p. m. saw fender and bumper damage done to cars operated by Joseph F. Graham, 49, of Cuyahoga Falls, and Clarence Murphy, 76, of Lancaster. Graham was being delayed by a flagman, and Murphy's car allegedly hit Graham's from the rear.

In an accident on Columbus Ave. about 3:35 p. m., Gary Cockerill, 19, of near Leesburg, pulled from the curb and hit a city police cruiser driven by Patrolman Robert Massie, 29, of 830 Rawlings St. Damage was slight, but Cockerill was charged with reckless operation.

A similar mishap brought slight damage to cars operated by Thomas Martindill, 24, of near Washington C. H. and Jessie Rhodes, 38, of Dayton. Martindill was pulling out of a parking place on S. Fayette St. about 7:45 p. m. when Rhodes went past him and tried to pull into the one ahead, police said.

SATURDAY morning's agenda opened with a Junior Fair tractor contest.

Fair officials described the exposition from a business point of view as the best in eight years. Excellent weather has been a major attendance factor. There were showers last Monday night, clearing the air for the Fair which opened the following day. Since that time the weatherman has smiled, although there is a threat of thundershowers Saturday.

Rain had cut attendance during the previous three years.

National Cash Sales, Earnings At New Highs

NEW YORK — Both sales and earnings of The National Cash Register Co. for the first six months of 1957 set new records for the period, Stanley C. Allyn, chairman of the board of directors, announced here yesterday following a board meeting at which a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share was declared.

Total sales for the first six months of 1957 were $182,892,587, compared with $155,554,528 for the comparable period of 1956, or an increase of 18 per cent. Net income for the first half of 1957 after taxes and excluding net earnings of foreign subsidiaries and branches not remitted to the United States, was $8,183,297. This compares with net income during the first half of 1956 of $7,724,604, or an increase of 6 per cent.

Earnings for the six-month period were $1.16 per share on the 7,065,023 shares now outstanding, compared with $1.09 per share last year (adjusted from $1.16 on the basis of the 6,678,668 shares outstanding at the end of the first six months of 1956).

Allyn said net income increased by a smaller percentage than sales chiefly because of the company's greater expenditures for engineering and research. He added that the first six months of 1957 set new records for the period for both the company's domestic and overseas sales.

Ohio Hog Prices Continue Climb

COLUMBUS (AP)—Prices for market hogs averaged 30 cents higher in the week just ending at $21.40 per hundred pounds, the Ohio Department of Agriculture reported today.

Light receipts are still a primary factor for the increase in the live price, the department said, although recent receipts have increased at the 85 interior markets surveyed in Ohio.

Sow prices were mostly steady for the week and held to about the same price as a week ago. Most choice sows bulked at $18 to $19 with heavy sows down to $15.

Midcontinent May Get Rain While Northeast Swelters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Scattering thundershowers were expected to pelt the nation's mid section again today, but for the drought-stricken Northeast there was no relief in sight.

A leasing trickle of rain was forecast for extreme southern New England. But elsewhere in the parched area it will be sunny and warmer.

The drought in the northeast already has caused millions of dollars to crops. Friday Gov. Foster Furcolo declared Massachusetts in a state of emergency. Some 32 cities and towns in that state are suffering from a drastic water shortage forcing emergency measures.

Some "heavy downpours", the first substantial rainfall to hit Massachusetts since mid-April, fell on southeast portions of the state Friday. Scattered areas of Rhode Island also received some rain.

Saud Backs Syria As Nasser Hints Of Talk with Ike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
King Saud of Saudi Arabia today pledged support for Syria "or any other Arab country" against aggression from any direction.

In a statement issued at the end of three-day talks in Damascus, Syria, Saud declared he was "not at all" in favor of any threat to any of her neighbors and it is unreasonable that there should be any such inclination."

Meanwhile, in Cairo, President Nasser of Egypt said he has no objection to a face-to-face meeting with President Eisenhower to discuss a Middle Eastern settlement if Eisenhower takes the initiative for such a conference.

But he did not want to propose such a meeting lest the U. S. State Department reply with a statement rejecting the proposal in a manner humiliating to Egypt.

The Saudi Arabian monarch called for Arab unity, asserting that is the only course that can keep the Arab world safe.

"I WOULD not think any Arab would raise a hand to encroach on any other Arab," he said. "Our common interest is in defense of our freedom and independence."

Acting the role of Middle East peacemaker, Saud was reported urging Syria and the United States to patch up their differences. Reliable sources said he told Syrian officials he has advised the United States to pursue a "policy of reconciliation" with Syria.

His strong statement of disbelief that Syria represents any threat to her neighbors that he has urged the United States to take a new look at its Syria policy.

Nasser sharply defended his policy of positive neutrality, reiterated his pledge of all-out support of Syria and warned that Egypt may shop for more arms if Israel continues to build up its military strength.

Asked if Egypt would send troops to aid Syria in case of aggression against that country, Nasser replied: "As you know, we have an agreement with Syria regarding defense against aggression, and if any aggression occurs against Syria, Egypt will support Syria by all means. But the exact means depends on the kind of aggression."

Asked if Egypt would continue its all-out support of Syria if that country went Communist, Nasser replied: "I am sure Syria will not fall under any foreign control."

ASKED IF Egypt might mediate between Syria and the United States, Nasser said: "I do not believe in mediation. I would prefer the United States government to contact Syrian officials and talk directly. Why don't they send envoys to Damascus instead of visiting capitals around Syria to learn about Syria?"

The latter was in reference to Special Ambassador Loy Henderson's visit to Istanbul and Beirut to study the Syrian situation. Henderson did not visit Syria.

Asked what he considered major obstacles to improved U. S.-Egyptian relations, Nasser said: "I always ask the United States government this question. I've told them Egypt is ready to be friendly."

"We are ready to do anything except give up our sovereignty and dignity. But the policy of the United States appears aimed at isolating Egypt and continuing to apply economic pressures against Egypt."

TEAMSTER ELECTION BLOCKED

Witness Ties Hoffa's Brother To Underworld

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former official of a Teamsters Union local in Michigan testified today he once was threatened with death because he refused to help a brother of James R. Hoffa in "getting in the rackets."

He was Robert Scott, a former secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Federation of Labor.

Scott told the Senate Rackets Committee also that he was once advised by Owen (Bert) Brennan, an associate of Hoffa and president of Teamsters Local 337 in Detroit, that he "had better have his insurance paid up."

Scott said Brennan made the comment at a time when Brennan was trying to persuade him to "put a fix in" for a gambling joint in Oakland County, Mich.

Scott, now a member of the Michigan State Board of Barber Examiners, was called to the stand as the committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) pressed its investigation into the affairs of Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union and leading contender to succeed Dave Beck as union president.

SCOTT TOLD the senators he believes Teamsters Union officials hounded his wife to her death in 1946 with telephone calls threatening his life. And he said he received anonymous telephone calls last week telling him not to testify.

Asked by McClellan if he thought violence might be attempted, Scott replied: "They might try it."

He said he decided to testify anyway because he thinks Hoffa is not "a good influence for the labor movement."

Scott said one threat of death came when he refused to come to the aid of William Hoffa, brother of James Hoffa who now is business agent for Teamsters Local 614 at Pontiac, Mich.

Without giving a date or going into detail, Scott said he was "told by a fellow in a Detroit hotel that Billy Hoffa wanted to bump me off because I interfered with him getting into the rackets."

As for the incident with Brennan, Scott said he had been called into Brennan's office and asked "to put the fix in with the Oakland County prosecutor so some of the boys could run a gambling joint."

Scott said he did not do so. "I told them I couldn't fix it and they said I could."

Later, he said, "Bert Brennan called to ask if my insurance was paid up. I asked what that had to do with him and he said he had a couple of boys in the office that wanted to run and they were bad boys and I had better have my insurance paid up."

He said the gambling joint subsequently opened up and operated for a little more than 30 days.

Scott linked Hoffa's name with conniving in which, he said, a group of officials rigged a 1948 election by declaring all members of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 ineligible to run for office except Scott and themselves. He said he was elected to an office in the local, but did not say which office.

Another Proposal Is Offered Striking Union by Ohio Bell

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. today presented a new proposal toward settlement of an 11-day strike of 18,500 employees represented by the Communications Workers of America.

Federal Conciliator Thomas W. Robertson said the proposal was presented at a 45-minute session of negotiators for the union and company. Details of the offer were not disclosed.

Robertson said negotiators would meet again this afternoon to discuss the proposal.

At a membership meeting of CWA members employed by Western Electric Co. here Thursday night, about 225 voted against accepting a settlement which one

Faubus Emotional in Condemnation Of 'Police State Methods' in Fuss

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus told Arkansans Thursday night they have no choice concerning integration in the face of what he called "un-sheathed bayonets" and "police state methods" in the Little Rock racial struggle. He urged them to be calm.

But immediately after the talk, a former Arkansas governor, Sid McMath, and an NAACP field secretary, Clarence A. Laws, declared Faubus' words were not conciliatory, but inflammatory.

In the sometimes bitter speech, Faubus attacked use of federal force to integrate Central High School, then advised his listeners: "Let us go about our normal pursuits in a friendly, peaceful manner, obeying all laws and orders, including those of Gen. Walker and his troops."

This referred to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, placed in command of paratroop units flown to Little Rock Tuesday to enforce federal court integration orders at the 2,000-student school.

The governor's tone was sorrowful as he reviewed the events of the last four weeks and advised citizens to remain calm.

But his voice occasionally rang with emotion as he attacked persons he blamed for the presence of federal troops in Little Rock.

Intermittent racial violence has occurred at the high school since it opened for the fall term Sept. 2.

The Army enforced integration Wednesday when units of the 101st Airborne Division convoyed nine Negro students into the building and used the threat of bayonets to disperse segregationists.

Faubus in his nationally televised and broadcast speech declared: "We are now an occupied territory. Evidence of the naked force of the federal government is here apparent in these un-sheathed bayonets in the back of schoolgirls."

In the bloody face of this was a railroad worker who was bayoneted and then felled by the butt of a rifle."

The governor apparently had incorrect information on this action, occurring Wednesday. One man was knocked down by a rifle butt when he sought to take the weapon from a paratrooper and another was cut with a bayonet when he failed to leave the area.

"In the name of God, whom we all revere, in the name of liberty we hold so dear, in the name of decency, which we all cherish, what is happening in America?" Faubus asked.

"Is every right reserved to the states by the federal Constitution now lost?"

"Must the will of the majority now yield, under federal force, to the will of the minority, regardless of the consequences?"

The governor said "literally swarms" of federal agents have been operating in Little Rock.

"To those who know the facts of the Little Rock situation, these combined actions on the part of the judicial, executive and military departments of the federal government are 'police state' methods in a form never before seen in America," he said.

Army Enforces Integration at Little Rock

DRIVEN TO LITTLE ROCK'S Central High School in an Army vehicle (top), nine Negro children alight at the school in President Eisenhower's determination that integration orders of the courts shall be honored. In the lower picture, the nine, surrounded by seasoned troops of the 101st Airborne Division, march up the steps and into the school.

It's Still Quiet In Little Rock

Sen. Russell Protests 'Storm Trooper' Acts

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Nine Negro students sauntered into Central High School today in a serene atmosphere but still guarded by armed paratroopers of the 101st Division.

Students standing at the top of the steps yelled and gave some cheers as the Negroes approached.

It was the third consecutive day the Negroes have been brought to school in an Army station wagon and escorted into the building by the paratroopers.

There was more noise on the steps today from white students but it did not necessarily represent hostility.

The only crowd was the more than 100 newsmen covering the third day of integrated school.

The scene was quiet and tensions lessened Thursday. The only flurry came when police in the school area arrested a man identified as Sidney A. Wolff of Miami, Fla., an Air Force Reserve officer. He was jailed on a minor charge.

MEANWHILE, Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) protested that federal troops here are using high-handed and illegal tactics in the style of Hitler's Storm Troopers.

Russell, leader of the Southern forces in the fight against civil rights legislation in the Senate, raised his protest in a message to President Eisenhower and Charles E. Wilson, Defense Secretary.

"If reports of reputable press associations are to be believed, troops are disregarding the elementary rights of American citizens by applying tactics which must have been copied from the manual issued the officers of Hitler's Storm Troopers," he said.

"The overpowering military might makes such actions completely inexcusable unless the purpose be to overawe all the people of the country who are opposed to mixing races by force."

Parma Fire Chief Dies

Foes of Hoffa Get Injunction By U. S. Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Judge F. Dickinson Letts today blocked next week's scheduled election of a new slate of officers by the International Teamsters Union.

The judge granted a petition by a group of New York members of the union for a temporary injunction.

The petitioners had complained that convention delegates have been picked improperly and the election stacked to bring about selection of James R. Hoffa as Teamster president.

Hoffa is Midwest boss of the teamsters and has been considered the hands-down candidate to replace Dave Beck, who is retiring in the aftermath of accusations, from a Senate committee, of misconduct and misuse of Teamster funds. Hoffa himself has been a target of the same Senate committee in its investigation of labor-management misdeeds.

Ahead of his ruling on the merits of the action, Letts turned down two preliminary motions by the union's top brass. One was a motion to quash on the ground that papers had not been legally served on the union leaders. The other was a general motion to dismiss on the principal ground that the place to make the attack on delegates' qualifications was inside the union.

THE UNION lawyers complained that serving documents in the suit on James Casey, an assistant to union Secretary Treasurer John F. English, was improper notice and lack of legal service.

Martin O'Donoghue, leading a battery of teamsters lawyers, also argued that the suit more properly should have been brought in the Miami federal courts since all high teamsters officials were there for convention preliminaries and that is the site of the coming convention.

William E. Dodd, former member of Congress from Connecticut, arguing for the plaintiffs, said Casey was the highest Teamster employee federal marshals could find at Teamster headquarters here.

The petitioners want the union election held up until a referee named by the court determines that convention delegates have been elected democratically.

Meanwhile, in Miami Beach, the Teamster constitution committee has voted to eliminate the provision under which it had been proposed that Beck be given emeritus status.

Youth Arrested For Kidnaping

Washington Boy, 8, Is Released Unharmed

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—A young airplane riveter who said he was de-p-rate for money was arrested with his wife Thursday night in the kidnap-for-ransom of Lee Cray seven hours after the 8-year-old youngster was returned unharmed to his home.

The boy, who vanished Monday, was found Thursday walking along a road near Lake Stevens, seven miles northeast of here, some 24 hours after his parents had received a ransom note demanding $10,000. The money had not been paid.

Picked up at 7:20 p.m. by FBI agents and deputies of Snohomish County Sheriff Bob Twitchell were George Edward Collins Jr., 20, and his wife Katherine, 21.

They were surprised by the lawmen at the Everett home of Collins' father and quickly booked at the Everett jail. Four hours later Collins signed a 13-page statement admitting the abduction and implicating his wife.

Collins, an apprentice riveter at Boeing Airplane Co. in Seattle, was booked for investigation of kidnaping; his hysterically sobbing wife as an accessory to the crime. The Collins have a 6-month-old child.

THE SHERIFF said later that the arrest was based on a number of things, particularly on a license number furnished by the youngster. It turned out to be exact and so was a description of Collins given by young Cray.

"He is a really remarkable boy with a tremendous memory," the sheriff said.

The couple will be charged under Washington statutes which carry punishment up to death if the victim suffer bodily harm.

Collins' rambling account of the abduction last Monday afternoon, almost identical in detail to the story told by the boy, said it was a spur-of-the-moment act.

He did not explain how he expected the Crays, a family of moderate means, to obtain $10,000. The father, Ed Cray, is an auto parts salesman.

$75 Million Power Plant Being Planned

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Construction plans for a 75 million dollar electric power plant along the Ohio River at Rayland, Ohio, a short distance upstream, from here, were unfolded Thursday night by Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

The facility will be built on a 165-acre site acquired several years ago. The tract now includes the 60-acre Vine Cliff Golf Course and 45 acres of cornfield to the north.

The first unit of 335,000 kilowatt capacity is scheduled to go into operation in 1961, linked to the company's service area by a 345,000-volt transmission line. That will be one of the largest power lines in the nation.

The installation of the turbo-generator units and the connecting transmission system will represent the largest single project in CEI history. It will be part of a record 262 million dollar expansion program set for 1957-61.

The company said that the new plant will be near large coal deposits. It will be built along the river because of a need for a reduction in the transportation cost of coal, the company added.

LWV Members Here To Attend State Clinic

Support Planned For County Charter Amendment Proposal

At least nine members of the Washington C. H. League of Women Voters will go to Columbus next Wednesday to attend the state LWV Clinic For Action in support of the county charter amendment proposal which will be submitted to Ohio voters at the November election.

This is the question to be submitted to the voters:

"Shall the proposed amendment of section 3 of article 11 of the constitution of the state of Ohio provide that the electors of a county may approve by a majority vote a county charter, changing the form of county government and granting it powers concurrent with those of municipalities, and may in counties having a population over 500,000 approve a charter providing for exclusive exercise of municipal powers by the county with a majority of those voting in the largest municipality, and in the county outside such municipality, be adopted?"

The state and local LWV groups helped get this amendment proposal on the ballot and are supporting it.

IN ADDITION to the amendment proposal for the county charter, the clinic will take up a study of the proposal for an amendment on the qualifications for persons to vote for presidential electors.

This amendment would provide "that a person otherwise qualified to vote in Ohio, but who has not resided in the state for one year, may vote for presidential electors if he has resided in the state, county, township or ward such time as may be provided by law and he is not entitled to vote for presidential electors in any other state."

A member of the LWV here said this amendment also will be supported "if this is the consensus reached by Oct. 1." She explained that the various LWV groups throughout the state are now being polled on their positions on it.

Member of the LWV here who have signified their intention of attending the clinic are Mrs. Paul S. Craig, Mrs. Charles C. M. Rine, Mrs. Thomas Parrett, Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. Alfred H. Browne, Mrs. Walter D. Craig, Mrs. John P. Case, Mrs. Lawrence Burris and Mrs. W. L. Morrow.

Perhaps Kentuckian Didn't Owe Ohio Money After All

FORT THOMAS, Ky. (AP)—Paul Penderly apparently didn't owe Ohio the $35 after all. He just thought he did.

Penderly, who lives in Fort Thomas, was under the impression that "quite a while ago," he broke Ohio's hunting law. Wednesday, State Treasurer Roger Tracy received a $35 check.

Thursday, his wife, speaking for her dead husband, said the incident happened many years ago when Penderly was hunting on his brother-in-law's farm. Penderly had an Ohio license and it was in season, but he killed a rabbit on another man's property. Actually, Penderly's only violation was trespassing. State Treasurer Tracy was unavailable to say whether Penderly would get the $35 back.

Nashville School Attendance Normal

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Attendance at the five integrated grammar schools here has returned "practically to normal," Asst. Supt. W. H. Oliver says.

"As far as we know, only seven children in the whole system are being kept home because of desegregation," he added. "We expect that they will return to class soon."

Ten Negro students are now enrolled in previously all-white elementary schools here.

Toledo Burglary Ring Smashed by Police

TOLEDO (AP)—Police said today they have broken a $70,000 burglary ring by arresting nine narcotics-using men who specialized in stealing from household appliance stores. Five other men still were being sought.

Detective Lt. Donald Larson said one of the men admitted entering at least 50 area stores and stealing 35 television sets. A total of nearly 200,000 television sets and many wire recorders, steam irons and other appliances were stolen by the ring, Larson said.

Bonding Company Loses In Recovery Effort

BATAVIA (AP)—Mrs. Rose Luecke of Milford has won a suit brought by her bonding company, which accused her of juggling accounts while working at Protange Corp. to hide a shortage. A common pleas court jury Thursday ruled against Indemnity Insurance Co. of North America, which brought the suit against the former bookkeeper after paying $10,643 to cover the shortage. Paul Riffle, Mrs. Luecke's attorney, told the jury that sloppy company accounting methods created the shortage.

Renewal of Levy Endorsed

Transfer of Belle Aire To City School District Sought by PTA Council

A resolution "strongly urging" the state Board of Education to transfer "as soon as possible" the 167-acre in Belle Aire, in the southern part of the city, from the Miami Trace school district to the Washington C. H. district was adopted unanimously by the Washington C. H. Parent-Teacher Association Council at its first meeting of the new school year in the high school Thursday night.

Although this part of Belle Aire has been annexed to the city, the state board has refused to transfer it to the school district.

The Council also endorsed the proposal for a renewal of the 2-mill levy for school operation. The levy proposal will be submitted to the voters at the November election. It was emphasized during the discussion that "this is a renewal of the present levy, not a new tax, and will not increase the tax rate."

George Inskeep, president of the Council presided at the meeting.

THE COUNCIL is made up of the principals of the five elementary schools in the city and the officers of the five PTA units.

Inasmuch as some changes have been made in recent months, the PTA presidents introduced the principals and officers with whom they serve. The presidents are: Richard Whiteside, Central; Mrs. Charles Sheridan, Cherry Hill; Mrs. Richard Whited, Rose Avenue; Roger Hoffman, Eastside, and Mrs. Norman D. Trout, Sunnyside.

Mrs. Dwight Roads Jr., secretary, read a letter of appreciation from Miss Wanda Tracey, who was awarded the $250 PTA scholarship when she was graduated from high school last May. She is now at Ohio University, taking a course to prepare her for a teaching career.

The Council passed a motion that a recommendation be made to each PTA unit that it give recognition to the school patrol members, "because of their job is so very important."

It also authorized arrangements for the Council to sponsor a show by Raymond Stephens, Magician, to be given in mid-November. Proceeds from the show will be used for school needs.

Columbus Man Pleads Guilty To 3 Charges

A Columbus man was fined $215 and costs after he pleaded guilty to three traffic charges before Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court Friday.

Gilbert G. Canter, 38, an insurance salesman arrested at 6 p. m. Wednesday on Leesburg Ave., was fined $200 and costs for drunken driving, $5 and costs for driving without a license and $10 and costs for reckless operation.

POLICE PATROLMAN Robert Massie said he had to travel 95 miles an hour to catch up with Canter in the quarter mile he followed him, siren screaming and red light flashing.

He said he went to the Fairground entrance to wait for Canter on a tip from Leesburg police who said they saw him leaving town on Route 62 and were unable to catch him.

He had an Ohio driver's license on his person, but it had expired two months ago.

AT THE SAME court session, Charles Smith, 68, of Springfield, pleaded innocent to passing a stopped school bus but was found guilty and fined $5 and costs.

The charge was filed by bus driver Frank Dill.

Beck said Thursday night that it had been at his request that the committee voted to strike the provision which was inserted in 1952 when the late Dan Tobin left the presidency of the vast brotherhood after 40 years' service.

Vice President James Hoffa, aspirant for the post Beck will vacate during the Teamsters' convention here next week, had sparked a move to confer emeritus rank upon Beck.

There had been some opposition in Teamster quarters to the move to give this honor to Beck, who retires with a $50,000 annual pension. Opponents said it would have made Beck virtually a president behind the scenes.

Apparently spearheading the opposition was Vice President William A. Lee of Chicago, who recently announced he was withdrawing his support from Hoffa for the presidency.

HOFFA, waging a strong campaign for the post, says that if he is elected as Beck's successor, he will do all possible to keep the Teamsters in the AFL-CIO.

The two developments — the striking of the emeritus provision and Hoffa's vow to keep the Teamsters within the framework of the AFL-CIO — were viewed here as moves to cut down the mounting campaigns of Hoffa's two major opponents.

These two contenders for the Teamsters' highest spot are Thomas J. Haggerty of Chicago and Thomas L. Hickey of New York.

The Teamsters have been given an ultimatum from the AFL-CIO to get rid of corrupt influences within 30 days or face expulsion.

Haggerty and Hickey have been endeavoring to set up the question of remaining in the labor affiliation or getting kicked out as a major issue in the campaign for president. They contend that election of Hoffa is almost certain to result in expulsion.

Hoffa declared Thursday that "I am the last person desirous of be-

States Trying Hard To Lure New Industry

Various Factors Seen In Picture with Millions at Stake

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—New factors today are entering into the scramble of the states to lure new industries.

The stakes are big. Business is spending at a 37 billion dollar a year clip for new plants and equipment. Until recently about half of that was going for new plants instead of for modernization of old ones.

Countless localities, 46 of the states, many utilities, railways, banks are estimated to be spending 37 million dollars this year to attract new plants to sites they serve. More than 6,000 separate organizations are reported participating in this commercial war.

But the contest is taking on some new aspects:

One unknown quantity is what effect, if any, the rising racial tensions in various parts of the nation might have on industrial planning. The coming of the St. Lawrence Seaway will affect the jockeying for position. The fast growing Southwest and Far West is building new markets to be served.

The race already is hot enough. Arkansas has attracted 90 new industries there since its industrial development board was launched two years ago with Winthrop Rockefeller as a moving light.

Mississippi added 49 new plants just last year. Louisiana has brought in many new industries, with a huge chemical plant growth under way. The textile industry has blossomed throughout the South.

The northern tier of states have their own drive well under way before the seaway arrives. Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota have state plans for luring more factories. The New York state commerce commissioner is bringing 400 community representatives together next week to launch a fresh drive.

New England fights back hard after the loss of part of its textile industry. The Massachusetts Department of Commerce and the New England Council talks up diversified industries. Vermont advertises widely and its Greater Burlington Industrial Corp. is an example of a city's drive that landed a new business machine factory.

In the fast growing Southwest, Arizona advertises its winter and summer sports areas as an attraction for workers in new plants. As a come-on it helps incoming corporations show the state off to workers who would be transferred from other localities.

Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico also have their own planning and development agencies.

Many devices are used to lure new industry.

A typical one is the Mississippi law which authorizes communities to finance the purchase of land and building of new plants for industry by floating bonds.

The battle between the states seems likely to grow hotter, with the new factors and imponderables.

Fayette Health Commissioner Discusses Epidemic Prospects

Absenteeism Worst Aspect of Asian Flu

While there has been no outbreak of Asian influenza in this area, the extensive publicity and warnings regarding this disease have led Dr. Benton V. D. Scott, health commissioner for Fayette, Ross and Pike Counties to give to the Record-Herald an interview which may be helpful to the many individuals here who are making inquiries.

This type of influenza which originated in China easily reaches epidemic proportions if proper precautions are not taken. Dr. Scott stated.

The health commissioner, covered the following points:

THE NEAREST approach to any outbreak in an Ohio community has been in Erie County where 180 out of 800 pupils attending one school have been affected. A few other places in northern Ohio also are reported to have some cases. Toledo in particular.

EXCEPT in cases of complications Asian flu is not regarded as especially serious. It has a duration of three to four days in its ordinary course, but the worst aspect is the danger of extensive absenteeism of many individuals necessary to be on essential jobs. It is serious enough to keep many people away from work for several days, and this can mean trouble in any community once an outbreak occurs.

Symptoms of Asian influenza, Dr. Scott said, are about the same as those which occur in other types of influenza. It usually starts with cold symptoms, headache, aching muscles, moderately high temperature and sometimes a sore throat.

He emphasized that diagnosis is not easy. The only sure methods are throat-washing laboratory tests or blood examinations, one at the beginning of the trouble and one during convalescence.

Two types of vaccine are in use for this malady, one is adapted for Asian flu only; the other is general for several types of flu.

There usually is no bad reaction from the Asian flu vaccine, Dr. Scott stated, but at present there is a short supply which is distributed through commercial channels only, none of it is being offered free.

He said that the health department has nothing to do with this supply of vaccine and will not have any for use. He recommended that shots be given by physicians only.

The health department's responsibility lies in helping control any outbreak making spot checks in schools and industry now being carried on, and keeping informed on absenteeism where pupils or employees are absent beyond what is considered a normal 10 per cent.

The department also will seek to keep local doctors informed as to incidence of the disease in the community.

The recommended amount of vaccine used shots given, Dr. Scott said, is one tenth of a cubic centimeter for any child under school age, one half a CC for school children and one CC for adults. He stated that one shot was usually sufficient for reasonable protection.

He pointed out that there are four classes of individuals recommended for priority protective shots: first doctors, nurses, hospital personnel; second, those in public security positions such as policemen, firemen, and those identified with communication services and transportation; third, the people who have some illness who might be seriously affected if they became victims of Asian influenza; last the public-at-large when the supply of vaccine becomes sufficient after priority cases.

GOP National Committee Charting Gains by Women

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, in presenting its 1957 progress study on women in public service, says it is not aiming to set women apart but is charting their gains to show them what they can do.

"It is encouraging to women to see that they are making gains, and it is valuable to men to see the variety of responsible posts women are holding," explained Miss Bertha Adkins, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee and director of the women's division.

"In the conduct of our government on all levels we believe it is to the interest of both men and women that women have a part—that their voices be heard and that qualified women be given opportunity to serve," she added.

In the last four decades—since 1916, when the first woman, Jeanette Rankin (R-Mont.), was elected to Congress—Miss Adkins says women have made excellent progress in winning elective and appointive offices in municipal, county, state and federal governments.

There are now some 576,000 in the last category. Women, according to the non-partisan survey constitute about 21 per cent of the federal government's entire civilian personnel. An estimated 10 per cent of these are in the high salary brackets. The big majority are doing clerical and related work.

"Even though slowly, women are forging ahead in winning recognition on the policy-making level, and in the professional and non-professional fields," Miss Adkins says. "An increase in the last two groups is especially noted since World War II."

The survey shows that, on the eve of World War II there were only about 6,000 women in the professional classifications. Now the estimated number is between 32,000 and 34,000. A study by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor showed the government is hiring women for jobs ranging from accountant to zoologist.

In addition to women civilian employees, women are accepted in the four branches of the armed services. The report shows that these now total 8,400 in the Army, 5,925 in the Navy, 1,707 in the Marine Corps and 8,652 in the Air Force. In addition, nurses in the armed services now total 7,144.

Only one in five women in the federal service works in Washington, D. C.

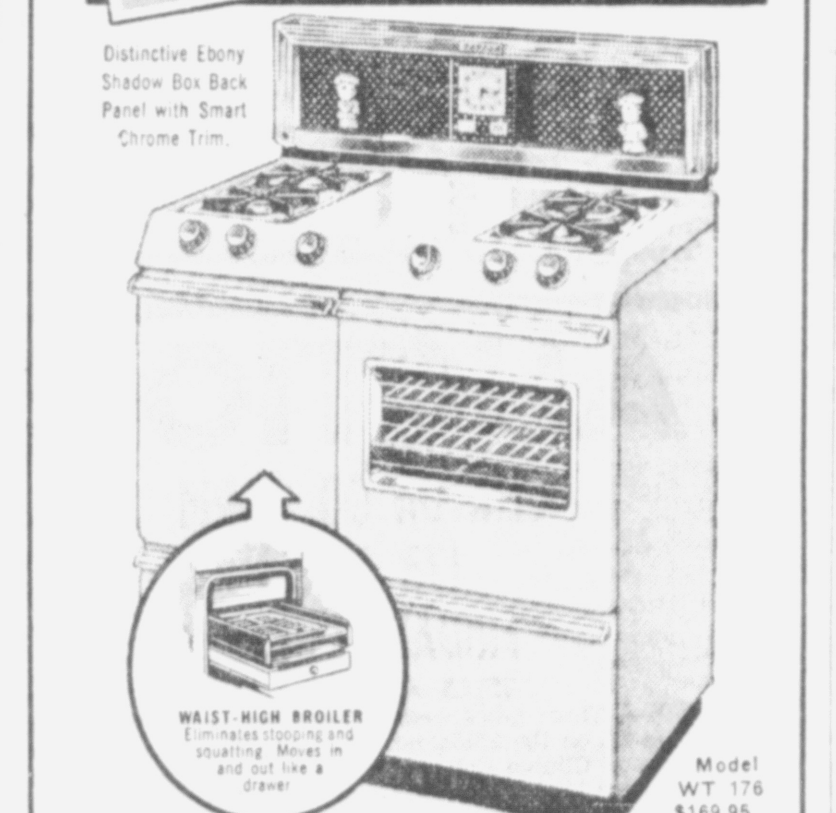

Don't try to go to a hospital, the committee adds. Isolating yourself at home makes it less likely you'll spread the disease. In hospitals, you might be exposed to bacterial infections of other people.

State Seeking Bids On Rt. 734 Bridges

Bids for building six new bridges on State Route 734, west of Jeffersonville, are being called by Ohio Department of Highways.

Bids will be opened at the department offices in Columbus Tuesday, Oct. 15.

The project calls for replacing six weakened existing bridges. Load limits have been reduced as much as 70 per cent on four of these structures.

The new structures—over Sullivan Run, Rattlesnake Creek and Paint Creek—will be of full roadway width (32 feet wide) concrete slab construction.

The length of the entire project is about 1 1/2 miles.

Can UN Measure Up To Vital Task Ahead?

The United Nations General Assembly now in its 12th regular session has a tremendous job, and perhaps a great opportunity before it following the breaking down of disarmament talks recently in London.

Following failure of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and the Soviet Union to agree upon terms of limitation and control of nuclear weapons, this highly important issue now becomes a matter for some decisive type of action by the UN.

The world is waiting in a general atmosphere of worry, anxiety and definite fear of a sudden break of some kind which will mean a world war; one which will allow use of huge missiles and bombs which can be hurled from a distance to practically wipe out a nation.

The United Nations must face this problem and will approach it with full knowledge that Russia's claims of perfecting an intercontinental guided missile that can strike anywhere in the world, are quite probably true and that the United States, is near to reaching the same situation, if it already has not done so.

Observing writers are pointing out that in three or four years both nations probably will have weapons which can destroy each other's cities, without warning. At the same time Britain, France, and other Western nations probably will have been supplied with intermediate weapons capable of reaching Russian targets.

Failure of the great powers to agree among themselves on steps to avert the catastrophe of a mutually destructive war now places the responsibility upon the smaller nations, vitally concerned in maintaining peace.

It is the position of the United States, backed by the other Western powers, that our proposals for limitation of nuclear tests, an inspection system, and "first step" disarmament are reasonable and generous. From the beginning we have urged international atomic controls. The Baruch plan still stands as a model of this objective.

With monotonous consistency the Russians have opposed any workable inspection system. They did, for a time, indicate willingness to accept President Eisenhower's "open skies" proposal, then peremptorily rejected it along with other suggestions.

The Russians, with their talent for twisting things around, have accused the United States of refusing to cooperate in a system of controls. With their misrepresentations they have succeeded in convincing some of the smaller nations that big, bad Uncle Sam is the real villain in the act.

It is now our chance to bring our case before the General Assembly so that the truth can be known. Once the whole world knows that it is the Soviet Union which is blocking disarmament, perhaps world opinion can force concessions which will prevent an ultimate holocaust.

Cairo: Home of Dreaming Exiles

CAIRO — This sprawling city of intrigue and mystery has a strange collection of exiles, each of them dreaming of that special assassination, revolution or coup d'etat which will pave the way for their return home.

Emir Abdel Krim El Khattabi, Moroccan rebel leader, is whiling away the twilight years of his life in the spacious quarters of a villa. Grizzled and squint-eyed, he still wears the white cloak, turban, and pointed leather slippers characteristic of the Riff where he gained fame as a desert warrior a generation ago. He is 73.

The French sent Abdel Krim into exile when his rebellion was crushed in the early 20s. He likes to pore over maps of North Africa and trace the fighting between Algerians and French. He draws up battle plans and relives the days when his desert fighters held at bay the armies of France and Spain.

But he has become a sort of toothless bulldog. He long ago broke with the North African Liberation Committee, the group which won independence for Tunisia and Morocco and now is directing the fight in Algeria.

The ex-mufti of Palestine, Haj Amin Hussein, lives in Heliopolis, Egypt. He directs activities of the Palestine Arab Higher Committee.

The mufti has no patience with talk of implementing United Nations resolutions on Palestine or any other compromise of any kind with Israel. Haj Amin wants all Palestine united as an Arab state, and nothing less. He is a bitter enemy of Jordan's King Hussein and is barred from that Arab state. In 1951, one of the mufti's relatives was hanged for the murder of Hussein's grandfather, King Abdullah.

At one time, the mufti's higher committee was a coalition of almost all factions of Palestine Arabs. After the 1948 Palestine war the mufti lost much of his following. His higher committee today is only one of many parties among Palestine Arab refugees. The mufti hasn't seen Palestine since he fled from British authorities during the Arab revolt of the late 30s. He sat out World War II with Hitler in Germany, then wound up in forced residence in France after the war. After a mysterious flight from France, the mufti showed up one night in the summer of 1946 in the palace of King Farouk, claiming asylum in Egypt.

Three young Jordanians from the old Arab legion form another sector of the exile population in Cairo. Col. Abdullah Tel was convicted of complicity in the murder of King Abdullah in 1951 and was sentenced to death in absentia. Tel already was in exile in Cairo. While Jerusalem commander of the legion in 1949, he concluded his government was trying to make peace with Israel. He then came to Cairo to ask asylum.

His two comrades here are Maj. Gens. Ali Abu Nuwar and Ali Hayari, who in rapid succession were chiefs of staff of the Jordan army. Both fled Jordan last April and have since been accused of complicity in a plot to assassinate King Hussein.

The Human Race in Fragments

One of the effects of the upsurge of nationalism throughout the world is that the human race is being broken into fragments which are constantly becoming smaller. The end of this process is not in sight. One of the immediate and disastrous effects of intensive nationalism is the stimulation of nationalistic and racial hatred.

For instance, the Malayan Federation could not include Singapore, which is the most important city of Malaya, because Singapore is at least three-quarters Chinese. The Chinese of Singapore, like all Chinese anywhere, are divided into three essential groups, the supporters of Chiang Kai-Shek, the supporters of the Chinese Communists, and those who still believe that a "third force" could develop on the mainland of China.

These groups hate each other, fight constantly and intrigue for domination. But in Singapore they might combine against the Malays and the British.

Similarly on the island of Cyprus, nationalism is developing an increasingly unpleasant situation. One might say that a Cypriot is a person who comes from Cyprus, which is 30 miles from Turkey and 600 miles from Greece. But that is strikingly oversimplified.

A Cypriot may regard himself as a Greek or a Turk, depending upon which language he speaks or which church he attends.

Racially, he may descend from anywhere or any race, from the Hittites to the Greeks, to the Egyptians, to the Crusaders from northern Europe.

But today the Greek-speaking Cypriot has been stirred up to believe that it is his destiny to belong to Greece, and the Turkish-speaking Cypriot believes that he must belong to Turkey, and over this island, which is no longer strategically important because of the airplane, could come a war involving the entire human race.

Such great land empires as Soviet Russia, Red China, and India comprise many races and nationalities and varieties of languages and these are beginning to assert themselves in varying degrees of autonomy. For instance, Communist State of Kerala in India is composed of layers of differing peoples who are unlike other peoples of India and who found in communism self-expression which if it spreads throughout southern India could cause havoc in that country.

Arab nationalism, according to the Arabs, is something that has always existed, which cannot be so because the Arabs have not always existed as a separate and distinct nation.

Is Egypt an Arabic country? Look at the history of Egypt from the Hukos to the present day and see what a mixture of peoples have lived in, conquered or been conquered in that country. Who were the Macedonians who set up Ptolemaic Egypt?

Were they Greeks? Were they tamed Celts who also once lived in Macedonia? If they were Greeks, what kind of Greeks were they, for there were many kinds of Greeks from the ancient Minoans to the rugged Spartans.

If you like arguments of this kind, you can spend a life-time on this subject. Or if you have the time, you can wax most enthusiastic trying to explain how an Illyrian, become, as Albanian and a Moslem Albanian a satellite of the atheistic Kremlin.

Even in the United States, the racial problem as between whites and Negroes, as it concerns Mexicans and Puerto Ricans, intensifies each year and is now, in some stages climatic. The rule that all men are equal raises the question as to what is meant by all men and what is meant by equal.

In fact, to deal with this problem the White House tried to turn the FBI into a national police force which would have been a national calamity were not J. Edgar Hoover alert to the danger of unconstitutional means to achieve constitutional ends.

And because we are of such a variety of origins, we have brought into our lives all the quarrels and disagreements and over-emphasis of Europe, Asia and Africa to say nothing of our own smaller and only justifiable minority, the wards of the nation, the American Indian.

And so we have reached that stage in civilization when we must ask who is better than whom and how long were your ancestors civilized before mine were—which is an absolutely and conclusively silly question because mine were the first to be civilized and if you don't believe it read the Book of Genesis which says so. So there!

Man Is Indicted For Beating Child

AKRON — Accused of breaking into an apartment and brutally beating a child, Virgil O. Atkins, 35, was indicted by the Summit County grand jury Thursday on charges of breaking and entering, assault with intent to kill and assault with intent to maim.

Police said Atkins broke into the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Stevenson July 12 and beat their sleeping 3-year-old son, Henry, with a rock. The boy suffered a double fracture of the skull. Mrs. Stevenson identified Atkins as the man who attempted to date her in a cafe near her home.

Atkins, apparently angered when rebuffed by Mrs. Stevenson, broke into her apartment, officers said. They quoted Atkins as saying he had been drinking and thought he was beating the boy's mother when he attacked the child.

Diet and Health

By PERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Most mothers know what they should provide in a child's lunch box. I've advised you countless times on the foods a growing child needs. I'm sure other health writers have done the same.

But what about Pop? How about his lunch box? Too frequently, I'm afraid, a working man sets off for the plant with nothing more than a soggy sandwich and maybe a thermos of coffee in his lunch box.

Dad may not be growing much any more, but he still needs the proper foods to give him the energy to continue working.

Every day each of us needs some of the seven basic food groups to keep healthy. And just in case you've forgotten let me remind you what these foods are:

Leafy green and yellow vegetables; citrus fruits and tomatoes; potatoes and other vegetables and fruit; milk, cheese, ice cream, meat, poultry, fresh eggs, dried beans and peas, nuts, bread, flour and cereals and butter or fortified margarine.

A working man's lunch box should carry some of these items. A good lunch would be a sandwich (or sandwiches) of meat eggs or cheese, or a combination of these foods, raw fruit and vegetable; milk and simple dessert of some kind.

For variety, you can add soup in a thermos bottle. Or instead of sandwiches, once in a while you can use a fish salad or chopped meat as the main course of a lunch box meal.

Here's another thing to remember: try to keep the food as fresh and as wholesome-looking as is possible.

For example, if you plan to include lettuce in the sandwich, wrap the lettuce separately. Instruct your spouse to add it to his sandwich at luncheon.

Take time to plan these lunch box meals so they will be a little different every day. Lunchtime for a working man is a time to relax and to forget the tension of the job. Make sure your working man enjoys his food so he can relax happily.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q. R.: What causes itching around the rectum?
A. R.: Sometimes the itching is due to parasites such as pinworms in the rectum. Infection of the skin around the anus by ringworm or a fungus is a common cause.

Other causes are due to sensitivity to certain foods in the diet. Occasionally, infected piles or an anal fissure may be responsible.

Try and Stop Me

EVEN CROUPIERS, hardened to big shots and staggering sums won and lost at Las Vegas gaming tables, blinked their eyes when one luckless wight lost, on successive nights, $50,000, $75,000 and $90,000.

"Good heavens!" gasped a croupier, "where do you dredge up all that money? From a pump?" The gambler socked him right in the nose, snarling, "Don't you call my wife a pump?"

A portrait painter, vacationing in the Ozarks, came across an old mountaineer who delighted him. "Pop," he proposed, "I'll give you $10 if you'll let me paint you." The old man weighed the offer carefully, then answered, "It's a deal on one condition. You gotta tell me how to get the paint off afterwards."

Two urchins matched hands after an afternoon in a mudpie. "My hands is dirtier 'n yours," boasted one. "Okay," said the second, "but you're a year older than me."

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON — Whatever may happen next in Little Rock, or elsewhere in the South, the 1958 and 1960 elections will be held.

That's one prediction it seems safe to make in the troubled integration picture. Whatever else happens, politics will go on as usual.

The campaigns will be complicated, of course, by the whole civil rights situation, by the Little Rock disorders and President Eisenhower's calling out federal troops, in particular.

Politicians and those who try to keep tabs on the politicians were busy assessing the portents by the time the first paratrooper piled out of a plane in Arkansas. A variety of their predictions has got to print.

Republicans sound the more optimistic, for two main reasons:

1. They think they'll pick up great numbers of northern Negro votes as a result of the President's decisive action in calling out troops at Little Rock. This comes as a great relief to them. They'd been afraid previously that Negroes would think Eisenhower was dithering when he should have been acting to enforce the anti-segregation decrees.

2. GOP strategists think, or at least hope, the Democratic party has blown apart again along its North-South seam. Some Democrats concede they may be right. Some—like Sen. Douglas (D-Ill)—say it's just as well. "It would mean getting the Dixiecrats out of the party," says Douglas. Others, like Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), lament the possible loss of a single vote. Johnson could hardly be expected to welcome a collapse of the North-South truce. He would need a united party if he hoped to get the party's presidential nomination.

Democrats see possible advantages to themselves growing out of the integration fight:

1. They don't see how a Republican presidential candidate could carry a single Southern state after a Republican president called out the "Feds." Eisenhower cracked the "Solid" South in 1952 and 1956, and Democrat Harry Truman lost part of it in 1948. The Democratic argument is that Dixie is safe from the Republicans for the next few years even though a new states rights party should arise and threaten to take some states from the Democrats.

2. Democratic planners wonder if the Republicans didn't lose a pile of votes in the North, as well as in the South, through the President's use of federal troops. They figure a good many white Northerners are against integration and resent the President's action. How the Democrats can appeal to this group, while coming up with a civil rights stand which will attract Negroes, is one of many problems to be ironed out at the party's 1960 convention.

It may be noteworthy that leaders of neither party are making any great claims at this point.

For one thing, they don't want to be accused of capitalizing on a tragic situation even though, in the long run, they may hope to do exactly that.

For another, political planners—especially since the Truman upset of 1948—tend to be more cautious than they used to be. Today's advantage has a way of turning into tomorrow's liability. Nobody knows what turn the situation in the South may take. Nobody knows what problems—inflation? The international situation?—may arise to become the No. 1

Hound Dog Sale Not Very Fruitful

TOLEDO — For L. L. Burrus of Herrick, Ill., a sheriff's sale of 31 hound dogs was something less than a howling success.

The dogs originally belonged to W. C. Holt of nearby Holland. Burrus initiated the seizure and sale of the dogs to obtain payment of a $292 judgment against Holt.

But since the sheriff, too, the dogs last Sept. 5, they have been eating, eating, eating.

This week, they were sold for a total of $580 at prices ranging from $2 to 75. Bills for food, kennels, veterinary fees and court costs will claim all but about $5 of the sum.

The original site of Charleston, capital of West Virginia, was purchased in 1887 by George Clendenin, a member of the Virginia Assembly, for five shillings.

Como Amazed By TV Songs

Present Stampede May 'Hurt Someone'

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's big song stampede has Perry Como shaking his head.

"I kinda feel a lot of people are going to get hurt," the crooner comments softly. "It's going to be sad."

It isn't the rivalry, it's the planning that disturbs Perry. "Having all these other musical shows doesn't bother me," he asserts. "I'm just anxious to see the outcome. I think they (meaning the people who put shows together) have gone overboard."

"But it takes a little more than singing. You have to have an organization. An evening's show is built over years, not days."

"One man just doesn't get up there and sing songs. A lot depends first on the guests you get, and then what you do with them."

Whatever happens, the tranquil Como tempo won't alter. "The writing and rehearsal of each show takes six days," he adds. "We know what we're doing and we know there's not that much to get excited about."

"The letters we get from people tell us they don't want hysterics."

A ranking dramatic fixture since October, 1951, TV's Sunday night "Playhouse" gives its final performance Sunday with Walter Slezak starring in "The Best Wine."

The Sugar Grove Methodist Church will celebrate Rally Day and Homecoming Sunday.

Paul C. Brunner, superintendent, announces the schedule for the day as follows: 10 a. m., Sunday School; 11 a. m., worship service; noon, basket dinner; afternoon, program at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Wesley Thatcher and Mrs. Elden Armbrust will be in charge of the afternoon program, which will include special music, recitations, and talks by former pastors.

The public is invited to attend any of these services. The basket dinner will honor all new members to be taken into the church that Sunday.

Rev. Harold Huges is the pastor of the church.

Swiss Cheese Fete Gets Start Today

DOVER (AP) — More than 50,000 visitors are expected at the two-day Ohio Swiss Cheese Festival starting today at Sugar Creek.

Swiss costumes will be worn by the Sugarcreek natives, and dances and athletic events of Swiss origin will be performed. Sugarcreek is a center of the Ohio cheesemaking industry and is headquarters for the Ohio Swiss Cheese Assn.

Forest Hicks, 30, was named 1957 grand champion cheesemaker this week in the cheese association's annual competition.

The first poultry course in America was taught at Cornell University in 1892.

You Need The Church-The Church Needs You

O GOD of NATIONS

Today the 'Great God of Nations' is pleading for unity of mind, for brotherly love between men and for peace on earth. Jesus the greatest of teachers presented to men truths, which were then as they are now, of great importance to all mankind. His utterances, without revision, are most pertinent to modern life and make universal appeal. In them are heights which no man has scaled; depths which no man has sounded; reaches of length and breadth which no man has explored. Universally the need for blessings from the great 'God of Nations' has never been so great. He commanded men to learn of Him and promised to show them the way.

Pastors, Priests and Rabbis are pooling their interests in an effort to challenge All Nations to an understanding of the term 'Peace'. Prayers from millions of earnest seeking, warm hearted, religious people, go up to the great 'God of Nations' every day for those men who are entrusted with our destinies.

Millions are now saying of Jesus: "There was the true light, even the light which lighteth every man, coming into the world." Whether judged by subject matter, the method of its presentation, or its effectiveness in influencing life... Jesus enjoys pre-eminence among teachers. If men would but seek out His will; if world leaders would but ask His guidance when difficult, international problems arise... then solving them would not be such a surprise, for in Him men of faith find all things possible.

MEDICINE CHEST "LEFTOVERS"

There's but one good place in the home for "leftovers." That's the refrigerator—and the "leftovers" should be foods, not medicines.

Medicine chest "leftovers" are risky at best, and often downright dangerous. The medicine your physician prescribed a year or so ago was intended to be used then, not now.

Avoid serious danger—dump old medicine at once.

Each illness requires scientific diagnosis—and, usually, specialized medicine is indicated.

Planes will be judged on workmanship and finish by Gene Cook and Earl Hilton. First place winner will receive a K&B 35 engine, second place winner a gallon of fuel and the third place winner will receive a fuel pump.

Following the flying and judging, refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend the outing.

The club has received a standing invitation to visit Clinton County Air Force Base, Wilmington and plans are under way to make the trip. It is also hoped that the club will be able to visit other model clubs in Columbus, Dayton and Wilmington this fall.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Why are plain women so scary? Is it an act? When they are walking along a street at night—even a well lighted, well traveled street—they act so terrified if a man approaches within 20 paces of them.

Their more fortunate sisters don't seem to be afraid of males. The good looking dames act as if they are used to having males nearby.

I've noticed the same thing in church. Enter a pew behind a homely woman and invariably she will turn around as if expecting to be looked at. It must be an act in those circumstances; I've never heard of anyone's being hit on the head in a crowded church.

But my main problem is my sister-in-law. She has been living with my wife and me for 10 years, and she still jumps every time I enter a room where she may be reading or watching TV.

You might think that long before 10 years had elapsed, she would have got used to my living in the same house with my wife—but she is not the case, it seems.

Frankly I think it's an act, and have been on the verge, several times, of telling her so. But my wife won't hear of it. I mustn't offend my sister-in-law, although I'm supposed to put up with her making like I am Dracula.

Honestly, it's getting to the point where I even hesitate to enter my own house, lest I scare the daylights out of my sister-in-law. If she should die of fright some day, on looking up from her book (or whatever) and seeing me enter a room, am I to feel guilty?

I am convinced that she and other scary women are putting on an act. What do you say?

W. C.

DEAR W.C.: Why are plain women so scary? Well, maybe the jumpy kind of plain woman you deplore—on the street, in church, at home, etc.—is a lonely soul.

The habitually lonely person tends automatically to become immersed in self-concern—because inwardly isolated from the security of close protective alliances.

His emotions turn back upon himself because he lacks a partner, pal or spouse, with whom to exchange intimate thoughts and feelings on a reciprocity basis. This type of emotional short circuit tends to build up hair-trigger tension in the nervous system—hence the jumpy reaction to "outsider" approaches.

I don't think it's an act. I think it is the frightened reflex of a person who feels alone in the world (even if surrounded by decent folks). The aloneness feeling stems from a sense that you aren't vital; important to anybody—that nobody really cares what happens to you. This is perhaps the most "threatening" sensation that humans ever know, in the ordinary routine of life.

There's but one good place in the home for "leftovers." That's the refrigerator—and the "leftovers" should be foods, not medicines.

Medicine chest "leftovers" are risky at best, and often downright dangerous. The medicine your physician prescribed a year or so ago was intended to be used then, not now.

Before Chiding Daughter, Remember, She's Smarter

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Next time you feel called upon to reprimand your college-age daughter, just remember—she's smarter than you are.

I have this on sound authority. Miss Norma MacRury, white-haired dean of Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., says so. So does the school's new president, Val Haining Wilson, former president of Colorado Woman's College in Denver and the father of six children.

I dropped in to call on the top brass of the college after depositing my own daughter in her assigned dormitory.

"Don't worry about today's girls," said Dean MacRury. "They know where they're going and what they want to do much more clearly than I did at their age."

"The current crop of college girls is equal to anything," said President Wilson. "They'd better be, too, with the world in its present state."

Girls at Skidmore, like those in most colleges throughout the country, want to get married as soon after graduation as possible, and expect to work for a few years either before or immediately after marriage. Few of them plan long-term careers, and many are indignant when told that current statistics show that they probably face a stretch of 25 years at paid jobs, whether they get married and have children or not.

"I'm constantly amazed at the versatility and competence of these girls, when I meet them a few years after graduation and find that they are running homes, raising children and holding down responsible positions in business or professions, all at once," the dean said.

The bright smiles on all faces Monday morning were for a special reason. The annual process of being "mugged" for the Sunburst was in full swing. The school pictures will be distributed, for sale, among the students and, at the end of the year, will be placed in the annual as a permanent remembrance of all those who accompanied us on our six-year journey through WHS. . . .

THE HLY induction ceremony slated for last week, will be held this Saturday at Camp Pine, weather permitting. The excessive rain washed out the service last week.

THE ENTIRE Sunburst staff worked hard both Tuesday and Thursday nights in the auditorium rehearsing the Sunburst play which is scheduled for next Monday morning. The main characters are: Mary Martin, played by Kay Minshall; John Martin, played by Ron Coffman; and Inspector Faraday, played by Sharon Smith. The whole staff "gets into the act" in one way or another. The objective of the assembly is to plug the sale of Sunburst to every member of the school. . . .

STUDY HALLS at WHS are being used for a new purpose this year. . . . studying.

JUNIOR HIGH cheer-leading practice sessions were held Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, after school, in the gymnasium. Fifty-one girls, under the guidance of Miss Anne Stinson and seven senior high cheerleaders, took part in the noisy and vigorous sessions. Final tryouts will be held Monday after school. . . .

THE LIBRARY has been a place of intensive activity in recent weeks, as teachers are giving reference assignments to the upper classes, and the seventh, eighth, and ninth grade instructors are teaching their students the correct use of the library for pleasure or study. Mr. Moore, for example, has taken all of his eighth grade American history classes to the library, where Mrs. Scott has taught them the correct use of the encyclopedia. Thursday all of the freshman English classes were taken to the library by Mrs. Decker and were taught the usage and meaning of the Dewey Decimal System. Also, all seventh graders have been taken on a tour of the library by Mrs. Scott and shown the different sections for books and the proper way to find them.

There are, by the way, eight complete sets of encyclopedias available to any student needing information on a subject. Included in these eight is a new set of reference books called "Our Wonderful World." In addition to the new reference books, many new and interesting fiction and non-fiction books have just arrived and are now being placed on the shelves. The library subscribes to 65 magazines and, for the seniors, there is a large collection of college directories, catalogues and vocational publications.

The library is operated by 26 students, working in nine shifts; three work each period and two after school. All are under the capable supervision of Mrs. Scott, who has been in charge of the school library for the past several years and has an extensive educational background. She obtained her B. S. degree at Purdue University and her M. S. degree in library science at Kent State.

For students, who are more interested in reading, there is a Library Club, which meets one noon a month to discuss new books and literature in general. The library, also, operates a bulletin board in the upper corridor of the building showing new books and displays in an attempt to interest more students in reading. So, if you're looking for something to do, read a good book. It's one of the best and cheapest forms of entertainment.

FIVE TOP TUNES of the week: 1 - "Tammy"; 2 - "Gonna Buy You a Rainbow"; 3 - "Honeycomb"; 4 - "Fascination"; 5 - "Diana."

Council met Wednesday morning, and topics for discussion were: homecoming; the possibility of a Youth Center in Washington C. H.; and pledge cards for students. For the first time in many years, a local band was selected for the homecoming dance. There will be a complete report on this at a time nearer homecoming. A Youth Center was talked about and this matter will be put before the student body for further consideration.

Officers of the Student Council are: John Rhoad, president; Mike Lawrence, vice president; Jean Conaway, secretary; and Tom Swaim, treasurer. . . .

OVERHEARD in Mrs. Grillo's Latin Class: Mrs. Grillo: What do you consider the greatest achievement of the Romans? Struggling Student: The ability to speak Latin.

THE BAND will attempt to put on its first show of the football season, having been rained out for the two preceding games. Asked for a comment about Friday night, Mr. Neumann said, "Rain, rain go away." Since Little Miami has no band, the WHS band will have the fullhalf time to present their show. They have worked hard for three weeks now, and, if given a break by the weather, will present a fine half-time spectacle for the many fans. . . .

CONGRATULATIONS to Chuck Hire, as our newest licensed driver at WHS.

The list of clubs and their officers will appear next week, due to the fact that some clubs have not yet elected officers. . . .

TO BOOST the school spirit even higher, a "Pep" assembly was held this afternoon under the direction of the cheerleaders with Coach Marvin Merritt acting as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Grillo read an open letter to the student body from former football players extending wishes for a successful season from here on in, in spite of having lost the first two games.

THE FUTURE NURSES Club will sponsor the Sock-Hop in the gym Friday night after the game.

Philadelphia-Cleveland Oil Pipeline Planned

COLUMBUS (AP)—Laurel Pipe Line Co. of Ohio has requested permission to sell $50 million worth of secured notes to build a 450-mile pipeline from the Philadelphia area to Cleveland. Horse Opera's Comic Replaced

Hero's Sidekick Now Able To Help a Little

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—That venerable veteran of the horse opera, the comic sidekick, has apparently ridden his balky mule into the sunset for the last time.

For now there's a new breed of sidekick on TV—serious, more intelligent and helpful.

The Wyatt Earps, Matt Dillons and assorted riders of the range now are virtually assured of a little support when they go after villains.

Not that comedy has disappeared. It's just a little more tame than in the days when Gabby Hayes, Smiley Burnette, Roscoe Ates, Fuzzy Knight or Al St. John rode the trail.

"Sure Western comedy has changed," says 30-year-old Dennis Weaver, the sober sidekick to James Arness in "Gunsmoke." "But drama itself has progressed from the old pie-throwing days."

As Chester, Matt Dillon's lame deputy, Weaver speaks "pure Oklahoma" in "Gunsmoke," which he picked up from a college buddy at the University of Oklahoma.

"No, I don't really limp," he says, "but fans often write—even from England where I understand the show is very popular—asking about my bad leg."

Traditionally, Weaver observes, sidekicks have been older men, not expected to shine at the show-down. The limp serves the purpose of "allowing the lead character, Marshall Dillon to take complete charge of the situation."

Mason Alan Dinwiddie III, 20-years-old, is another TV sidekick. The son of the late Alan Dinwiddie, longtime Hollywood and Broadway actor, Mason plays Bat Masterson, Wyatt Earp's problem pal, on TV.

Cornerstone-Laying Ceremonies At First Baptist Church Sunday

Ceremonies for the laying of the cornerstone of the new Christian education building of the First Baptist Church, East and North Sts., will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

The building is now going up on the site of the old frame house, which was used for many years for Sunday school. Work on the new building started with the excavation about six weeks ago. Plans call for its completion early next year.

The old frame house had been moved to Worley St. for use again as a dwelling.

The new Christian education building is on the east side of the present church, edifice and will be connected to it. When completed, classrooms, a meeting hall, pastor's study, kitchen and other facilities will be provided in its basement and two floors. The building itself will be of concrete block construction with brick and stone veneer to harmonize with the present church.

The cornerstone-laying ceremonies, in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Harold B. Twining, will be open to the public.

The Rev. Charles B. Ware, pastor of the Church of Christ in Christian Union on Gregg St. and president of the Fayette County Ministerial Assn., will give a short address. City Manager James F. Parkinson will represent the city and make a few remarks also.

Willis Coffman, chairman of the church building committee, and Francis Cupp, the building contractor, will lay the cornerstone while the Rev. Mr. Twining delivers the cornerstone-laying prayer.

The new building will cost an estimated $100,000.

The finance committee of the church, headed by Richard McLean, is now setting up an organization for a campaign to raise $20,000 in cash and pledges covering a three-year period.

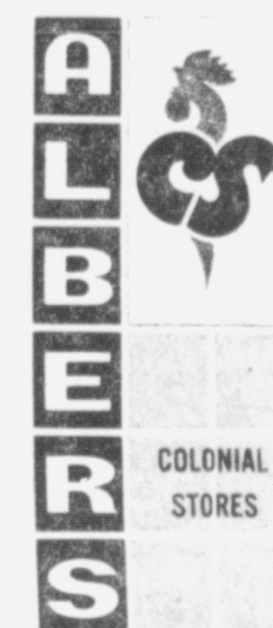

This campaign, the third in five years, is set for Oct. 13-20. The two previous campaigns, conducted almost entirely within the church membership, raised more than $62,000 for the new building and some related changes in the present one.

Lasco, Mo., is named for the first letters of iron, lead, aluminum, silica, calcium and oxygen—all of which are used in manufacture of cement there.

Ohio Turnpike Said Better Designed Than Pennsy Road

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike was described by a road expert here Thursday as safer and better designed than the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Deputy Assistant Commissioner Joseph Barnett of the Bureau of Public Roads said he meant nothing against the designers of the Pennsylvania turnpike.

"After all," he said in response to a reporter's question, "the Pennsylvania turnpike was built more than 20 years ago. If we can't learn anything about road construction in that time we had better stop."

Actually, he said, Pennsylvania turnpike designers did a good job, considering that it was built during the depression. He said they showed particular boldness in laying parts of the turnpike through mountain tunnels.

What especially makes the newer Ohio turnpike superior to the Pennsylvania, he said, is that the dividing portion between the one-way roads varies in width. This section is called the median.

"On the Pennsylvania turnpike you have a 10 foot median all the way," he said, "the Ohio turnpike median is never that narrow. Sometimes it is 24 or 30 feet. Sometimes it is more than 100 feet."

"A varying, wider median is much safer, since there is less chance of an automobile going in to the other road. Pennsylvania patrolmen have erected barriers at some of the more dangerous places. The varying median is also much less monotonous."

Another important feature in the Ohio turnpike is that each one-way road is built independently of the other.

In other words, on the Pennsylvania turnpike both one-way roads rise and fall and turn together. The Ohio turnpike roads do not.

B. D. Tallamy, head of the Bureau of Public Roads, noted this in a recent memorandum to regional and division engineers in urging good geometric designs for the new interstate highways.

Tallamy wrote: "divided highways should be designed as two separate one-way roads to take advantage of terrain and other conditions for safe and relaxed driving, economy and pleasing appearance."

On this point, Barnett said: "after all, you don't drive a car in two directions at one time."

Besides the Ohio turnpike, other recent ones cited by the bureau as model turnpikes are the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, the Garden State Parkway in New Jersey, the U. S. 240 interstate highway in Maryland and the New York Thruway.

People . . . Places . . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

One of the two big commercial apple orchards in the county, is owned by Herbert Smith, near Pleasant View.

The Smith orchard has been in existence about 25 years and contains 28 acres, with some 15 or more varieties of apples.

This year his early crop of early apples was light but his late apples are about an average crop.

Apple picking at the orchard will require much attention during the next few weeks.

For years the Smith orchard has provided apples for a wide area, and he has maintained the quality of his fruit by proper spraying and other attention necessary in successful horticulture.

His orchard is situated on his 240-acre farm a short distance south of the Upper Jamestown Rd. or the West Lancaster Rd. and he does his usual farming work in addition to looking after his orchard which is devoted exclusively to apples.

BIG PIG LITTERS

I have heard of some large litters of pigs in the county recently—numbering up to 17—which reminds me that years ago Oklahoma claimed the record number in a single litter—18.

However I have heard of some litters in Fayette County that reached 20 and one in which 22 pigs arrived in a single litter.

If anyone knows of a larger number on record I would like to hear of it, so if anyone outside of the county makes a claim of record litters we can point with pride to what the sows in Fayette County can do.

INDIAN CHIEF MURDERED

The Shawnee Indians were very numerous, and most of them were cruel, treacherous — a constant menace to the early settlers in Fayette County and this part of Ohio generally.

However, for years one of their chiefs was a friend of the white man and did much to prove his friendship.

He was Chief Waw-Wil-A-Way who lived near the falls in Paint Creek northwest of Bainbridge.

He was murdered while hunting near Frankfort, 154 years ago, a few days after Capt. Thomas Herrod, for whom Herrod's Creek was named had been murdered, presumably by Indians since he had been scalped.

History relates that a few days after the body of Capt. Herrod was found and white settlers feared an Indian uprising and rushed into Frankfort for protection, three men started out to check their livestock left behind when they went into Frankfort, then called Old Town.

Wolf, Ferguson and Williams were the names of the three men. Between Frankfort and Austin they saw Shawnee Chief Waw-Wil-A-Way approaching.

He was an old and faithful hunter in the service of Gen. Massie, and a known friend of the white men.

The three men tricked him into allowing them to examine his gun, presumably for trading purposes, and Wolf dumped the powder from the pan of the chief's gun, and returned it to him.

The chief was surprised and distressed when told of Capt. Herrod's death.

In leaving Chief Waw-Wil-A-Way shook hands, and as he rode off, Wolf shot him in the back.

The chief did not fall but turned upon his assassins, shooting Williams, stabbing Wolf in the thigh with his hunting knife, and knocking Ferguson unconscious with a blow from the butt of his rifle. The three men were helpless but Waw-Wil-A-Way turned, walked a few yards, and fell dead. He had not spoken a word during the brief and furious battle.

Williams died and the other two recovered.

This created a critical situation, with the Indians fleeing north to their strongholds and the whites to their strongest retreats.

The Treaty of Greenville ended further warfare between the Indians and whites.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Hog cholera in the county, particularly in Jefferson township where eight herds were affected, was attracting attention and causing alarm to farmers.

Everett Jones and Walter Barnes pleaded innocent to first degree murder indictments growing out of the murder of Robert W. Lindsey, Jeffersonville restaurant keeper.

Their trials were set for Oct. 18 and Charles S. Hire and Thomas Craig were named to defend them. Corn cutting was proceeding rapidly, with many hill residents here to assist in the harvest.

Mrs. Alice H. Taggart was elected county president of the WCTU for the 40th consecutive year.

Russia warned Japan about promiscuous bombings in China near the Russian border.

Gwinn Milling Co. announced plans for tearing away the large frame grain elevator on the east side of South Fayette St. and replacing it with concrete structure.

Liquidation of Ohio State Bank was nearing an end.

A Record-Herald reporter turned bank safe opener by using a long hooked wire to release a safety lock inside the vault and opening the massive steel doors of the vault, to the great relief of bank liquidator J. L. Meeker, who was about to call in an expert locksmith from Columbus. It was the Peoples and Drivers Bank vault.

Father Convicted Of Hurting Child

CINCINNATI (AP)—Jack Leuthold, 30, was convicted by a jury in court here Thursday of breaking the leg of his infant baby. The formal charge against Leuthold was contributing to child neglect. The jury deliberated only an hour.

Judge John M. Renner deferred sentencing pending a probation department investigation.

Leuthold was accused of having broken the leg of the baby, then eight weeks old, last Jan. 30 because it wouldn't stop crying. Leuthold claimed it was an accident which occurred while he was changing the baby's diaper.

7 Major Loop Skippers Still Lack Contracts

Cleveland Pilot Listed Doubtful Repeater for Job During Next Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Seven skippers still are waiting for 1958 contracts, but only Cleveland's Kerby Farrell appears to be a doubtful repeater among major league managers, whose ranks haven't remained intact from the end of one season to the next since 1944-45.

The others who haven't signed for next season — but who range from cold cinches to good bets — are Fred Haney of the National League's Chicago Cubs, Fred Hutchinson of the St. Louis Cardinals, Walt Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Bill Rigney of the New York-San Francisco Giants, Bob Scheffing of the Chicago Cubs and Harry Craft of the Kansas City Athletics.

All but Farrell have received votes of confidence in one form or another — which seems a bum rap for Kerby, who started the season as one of three rookie managers and now has seniority over three.

He faced the task of battling the New York Yankees for the American League pennant when he replaced the resigned Al Lopez, and the job plunged from the improbable to the impossible when injuries riddled his pitching staff — the Indians' only trump card.

Without Herb Score, and with Early Wynn and Bob Lemon ailing, the Indians skidded from six consecutive years of 1-2 finishes to their worst season since 1946.

Thursday night's 2-1 victory at Kansas City kept alive Cleveland hopes of a possible share of fourth place with Detroit, or of beating Baltimore out of fifth.

General Manager Hank Greenberg has declined comment on his plans for Cleveland's 1958 field boss.

Lopez, who never has finished worse than second as a manager, signed for 1958 Thursday, as did Mayo Smith of the Philadelphia Phils.

Lopez and the White Sox brass conferred "just about 35½ seconds" before the genial Al, who requested only a one-year contract, signed for a reported $30,000.

Smith, who surprised just about everybody by keeping the Phils no worse than fifth and startled the NL by contending for the pennant, also signed a one-year pact. It called for a raise over this season's reported $18,000 salary.

Of the others who haven't signed, Haney guaranteed a return with a pennant in his first full year with the Braves.

If there is any problem between the Cardinals and Hutchinson, it could be over President August Busch's new rule banning more than one-year contracts.

Alston, although the Dodgers fell to a far third after two pennant years, has been cleared of any fault by the Brook brass.

Rigney, finishing a two-year pact, fell short of his own hopes with a sixth-place finish, but has been touted for Manager of the Year honors in some spots around the league. The Cubs apparently are satisfied with Scheffing.

Craft has been close to 500 with the "seventh-place A's since replacing Lou Boudreau Aug. 6 and figures to be back for '58 — along with Cookie Lavagetto of the Washington Senators and Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who also took over in mid-stream. Lavagetto and Murtaugh already have signed.

Jack Tighe, who replaced the "resigned" Bucky Harris as Detroit skipper last October, also will be back next year. The Tigers, with Thursday's 3-2 victory at Chicago, are within one victory of a first division berth in the AL for the first time since 1950.

The other managers will be back under long-term agreements. Casey Stengel, headed for his eighth World Series with the Yankees, is half way through a two-year contract (at $75,000 per year). Boston's Pinky Higgins signed a three-year manager contract as a reward for 1955's manager of the year award. Baltimore's Paul Richards is signed through 1959, and Birdie Ebberts has two to go in a three-year pact with the Cincinnati Reds.

Redlegs To Test Rookie Hurlers

MILWAUKEE — The Cincinnati Redlegs plan to try out their best new hurling prospects in the last three games of the season against Milwaukee's National League champions.

Charlie Kabe, a southpaw rookie at 25, is slated to start tonight's game, opposing veteran Lew Burdette.

Rabe, who trained last spring with the Reds, developed a reputation in the minor leagues this summer with his fast ball and Manager Birdie Tebbetts wants to see how good his curve is.

In the final two games, Tebbetts is undecided about his starters, but he said he plans to give 20-year-old Jay Hook, the Reds new bonus hurler, another starting chance in Sunday's finale.

Braves To Display Power, Yankees Speed, Defense

NEW YORK — The Milwaukee Braves have the power. The New York Yankees have the speed and a better defense.

That is a brief summation of the relative outfield strength of the 1957 World Series participants.

Closer inspection of the situation, however, reveals that the outcome of the championship games may depend on the performances of three outfielders.

The tide will swing to the Yankees if Mickey Mantle can recover sufficiently from his leg injuries to handle the bulk of his team's long ball hitting and do a capable job in centerfield.

Or the pendulum could swing to the Braves if:

1. Bob Hazle, a .408 batter in 39 games, finds Yankee pitchers as easy to hit as those in the National League.

2. Hank Aaron, the major league leader in home runs and runs batted in, delivers the same timely blows he did so often during the regular season.

The outfielders are by no means set for the grand opening next Wednesday. With left-handers Warren Spahn and Whitey Ford figured to pitch the first game, Milwaukee will go with Wes Covington in left field, Aaron in center and Andy Pafko in right. Casey Stengel's nominees probably will be Elston Howard in left, Mantle in center and Hank Bauer in right.

Hazle will replace Pafko against right-handers. And Tony Kubek or Enos Slaughter will take over from Howard when Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl pitch for the Braves.

Now for a brief look at the statistics:

Aaron, with 44 homers, Covington, with 21, and Hazle, with 7, give the Milwaukee outfielders a total of 72 circuit hits. Among the Yank outfielders who figure to see the most action, Mantle has 34, Bauer 18 and Kubek 3 for an aggregate of 55. Pafko has hit 7.

81,000 Due To See Opener At Ohio State

COLUMBUS — Ohio State launches its 68th gridiron campaign Saturday, and 81,000 fans are due to witness the intersectional duel with the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian.

The invaders from Fort Worth have a 13-12 tie with Kansas under their cowboy belts, but the Bucks, with only four of last year's starters in the opening lineup, are still an unknown quantity.

One thing is certain. The crowd of 81,000 will extend to 17 the string of games at which 80,000 or more have shoved their way into the old horseshoe alongside the Oleantangy. No other college in the country matches that.

Although only four of last year's starters are back, the Bucks will field 11 lettermen at the kickoff. No sophomores have been able to crack the starting lineup.

The Frogs and Ohio State have met but once before. Just 20 years ago Francis Schmidt's razzle-dazzle offense turned the Texans back by 14-0.

As Coach Woody Hayes launches his seventh year at the Buckeye helm, he'll be facing his 17th non-conference foe. Of the previous 16 he's won 11 and dropped five. Against Western Conference opposition he's won 28, lost 7 and tied 5.

Howard 8 and Slaughter 5. Except for Hazle, Mantle's .365 batting average is the highest on both outfield squads. Aaron is next with .325. Kubek is at .295, Bauer at .259, Howard .257 and Slaughter .254. Covington shows a .289 mark and Pafko .280.

An outfield of Bauer, Kubek and a healthy Mantle will give the American League pennant winners a decided edge in speed on the bases and in the field.

Defensively, Hazle's ability leaves much to be desired. Covington is rated just an average fielder.

Yogi Berra rated by many the chief Yankee batting threat, makes the Bombers' catching staff a more formidable crew than Milwaukee's.

Yogi is a better hitter than Del Crandall, the Braves' No. 1 man, and at least as good on defense.

Tribe To End Season with Chisox Series

CHICAGO — Back in fifth place, but with only the slimmest of chances to finish fourth, the Cleveland Indians conclude their 1957 baseball season here in a three-game series with the White Sox, opening tonight.

The Tribe won 2-1 in Kansas City Thursday night on Vito Valentinetti's five-hit pitching to move a half game ahead of the Baltimore Orioles. But the fourth-place Detroit Tigers also won, to preserve a 2½ game hold on the lowest first division spot. All three teams have three games left to play—Baltimore in Washington and Detroit at home with Kansas City.

Don Mossi (11-9) hurled for the Indians tonight against the White Sox's Jack Harshman.

The only run yielded by Valentinetti, whom the Tribe purchased from Los Angeles last month, was a home run by Tim Thompson in the fifth inning. Vic Power and Gus Zernial got doubles that went to waste. The husky right-hander struck out five and walked three. His record now is 2-2.

Ralph Terry, losing pitcher, gave Cleveland only four hits, including a second-inning triple by Billy Harrell, scoring Roger Maris who had walked. Harrell singled to lead off the seventh and got around to third when the ball went past rightfielder Bob Martyn and rolled to the fence. Dick Brown brought Harrell home with the winning run by hitting a long fly.

Giardello Favored To Trip Bob Lane

CLEVELAND — With little to gain and much to lose in his pursuit of a crack at the middleweight title, Joey Giardello of Brooklyn takes on Bobby Lane of Miami in a televised 10-rounder here tonight.

Joey, ranked by Ring Magazine Thursday as 5th among contenders for Carmen Basilio's newly won crown, is a 9-5 favorite over the unranked Floridian.

A setback at the hands of tonight's opponent, who has the edge in youth and reach, would wipe out for Giardello most of the gain in rank he has made since a year ago this week when he smashed Bobby Boyd.

Denver Chalks Third Win in Little Series

DENVER — A see-saw battle of power gave Denver its third straight victory over Buffalo Thursday night in the 41st Junior World Series, and a chance for an unprecedented four-year sweep by one league.

The American Assn. representatives rallied from a two-run deficit and went on to win, 13-9. The series shifts to Buffalo's International League park, where it resumes Saturday night.

Ohioan Facing Chance For Action in Series

MILWAUKEE — Del Rice, Milwaukee's 34-year-old second string catcher from Portsmouth, Ohio, may have a lifelong ambition answered next week.

He wants to play baseball in the Yankee Stadium. In 17 years of professional baseball, he's never even seen the inside of it. He may play when Milwaukee meets the Yanks in the World Series.

Lions in Good Shape For Game Here Tonight; Looking for First Win

Four full teams of Lions will be on the field, all decked out in their white uniforms, tonight when they meet the boys from Little Miami High School at Morrow in their third football game of the season and the second on their home field at Gardner Park.

And, what's more, Coach Fred Domenico said "a lot of them are going to see action... there will be plenty of substitutions."

The starting lineup, the coach added, is not particularly significant, because two and three boys have been working out at every position all week. He admitted he and the other coaches have been having trouble deciding on what could be called the "first team."

The Lions went through only a signal drill Thursday evening, starting at 6 o'clock. Because the stadium field is still soft from the rains—and it was pretty well chewed up in some places during the Xenia game a week ago—the drill was held in the area between the field house at Gardner Park and Paint Creek.

THE SQUAD is in good shape, physically for tonight's game, with one exception, Domenico said. The exception is Kenny Evans, regular right halfback, who has a bad leg, Domenico said that, although he could play if needed, he probably will sit out the game as a matter of precaution against aggravating the old injury.

Evans will be replaced alternately by Rainy Foster and Jerry Sheppard, both of whom have been looking good in practice.

Dick Welsh, the squad's most experienced center, will be back but Doug Rider, who has been developing fast, probably will play a good part of the game. Dick suffered a sprained ankle in the first game at Linden McKilny and has been taking it easy ever since.

Chuck Hire probably will start at quarterback, but John Campbell and Buddy Lynch are being counted on to take over the ball-handling chores part of the time.

Roger McLean, supported by Bill Herman, will be at left halfback and Gary Stoddard at fullback. Hank Anders, who has been playing on the line, has been shifted to fullback in this week's workouts in place of Tim Kellough, who has been moved into the line.

Probably starters at the ends will be Larry Milstead and Ronnie Carter and at the tackles, Jim Wilson and Jack Hamilton. However, they are expected to give way to let some of the other boys who have been showing up well a chance.

If the field is dry—and indications are that it will be by night—the Lions may branch out from the straight football rain and mud forced them to follow in the first two games.

Domenico said the Lions "probably will be in good shape for the game."

3 Braves Hurlers To Carry Load

MILWAUKEE — Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves, taking advantage of the two breaks in the World Series schedule, has just about made up his mind to entrust the task of beating the New York Yankees to three pitchers.

The trio, Warren Spahn (21-10), Lew Burdette (16-9) and Bob Buhl (18-7), are expected to hog all the starting assignments with the 36-year-old Spahn attempting the iron-man role of starting three games if the series is extended to the full seven games.

That would relegate such other starters as Gene Conley and Bob Trowbridge to the bullpen along with such worthies as Don McMahon, Ernie Johnson, Dave Jolly, Taylor Phillips and Juan Pizarro.

Stan Musial Chalks Up National Loop Bat Title

ST. LOUIS — Stan Musial, excused for the season's last three games along with seven other St. Louis Cardinal players, has wrapped up his seventh National League batting crown with a .351 average, his best in six years.

Willie Mays of the New York Giants, Musial's closest competitor at .333, has only two games left and would need 16 consecutive hits to pull even with the 36-year-old Red Bird star who has been bothered by a shoulder injury.

Big 10 Teams To Be Favored

4 Pacific Coast 11s To Be Among Rivals

CHICAGO — Big Ten football teams are favored right down the line in a season-opening schedule which is spiced with four games against Pacific Coast Conference rivals.

Of prime importance in the opening round is the only conference clash—sending Indiana to Michigan State Saturday before a crowd of 55,000.

The well-stocked Spartans rate as much as a 26-point choice as they start the campaign as a top favorite for the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl trip.

The Hoosiers, their head coach, Phil Dickens, sitting out a suspension for over-enthusiastic recruiting, will present the only real new mode of attack in the conference.

It is the "side saddle T" which places the quarterback on offense behind the center but facing the left sidelines rather than the opposing line. The alignment, used by Dickens and his staff at Wyoming with fine results, has a reputation for speed, power and deception.

Illinois gets a jump on the rest of the league by meeting UCLA in Los Angeles tonight. The Illini are expected to take the wraps off a dazzling sophomore battery of passer Bob Hickey and end Rich Kreitling to implement their strong running backs.

Two first team linemen for UCLA and Jim Steffen and guard Joe Harper, have been declared out of the game because of injuries. Illinois rates near a one touchdown favorite over the razzle-dazzle Bruins.

Rounding out Saturday's slate are Michigan at Southern California, Washington at Minnesota, Northwestern at Stanford for nationally televised attraction, Texas as Christian at Ohio State, Notre as Purdue, Utah State at Iowa and Marquette at Wisconsin.

With a veteran starting lineup, Michigan should not have too much trouble with the Trojans and is favored by 14 points. Washington, once the school of Minnesota's crack split T quarterback, Bobby Cox, fought to a 6-6 stalemate with Colorado last week but figures a 13-point underdog before 61,000 fans at Minneapolis.

Northwestern, with rookie passers John Talley and Chip Holcomb supplementing the fancy work of little Bob McKeiver and speedy Wilmer Fowler, should have a slight edge over Stanford. Ohio State will open with a better blended aerial-running attack is a 13 point choice over the TCU Horned Frogs, who made their start a week ago in a 13-13 deadlock with Kansas.

Probably the most important opener is Notre Dame's test at Purdue with Irish coach Terry Brennan hoping for a fast season start that will help rub out memories of a 2-8 campaign last year. Purdue, although without passing star Len Dawson, is a slight choice.

Iowa figures by four touchdowns over Utah State and Wisconsin by three over Marquette.

Blanchester Pacer Wins Lebanon Event

LEBANON — Bonnie Sue Counselor, a game 5-year-old mare, eked out victories in both ends of the divided Class C feature pace at Lebanon Raceway Thursday night with twin 2:08 miles. She is owned by Everett Brown of Blanchester.

Two games will be played each Saturday night for five weeks.
